Narcotics-Filled Safe Stolen

A 150-pound safe, filled with narcotics, was stolen early today from the Permanente Medical Group pharmacy at 1930 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

The theft was discovered at 7:30 a.m. by a janitor, Thomas Sanford of Vallejo.

San Rafael police said, however, they believe they have the time closely fixed, as a car was seen parked behind the Foster Freeze Drive-In at 1908 Fourth Street about 12:45 a.m.

Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said it is believed the car was used to haul away the heavy safe.

The burglars apparently climbed water pipes to the second floor of the medical group building and smashed a wire-reinforced window pane to enter. Taking the 150-pound safe from the pharmacy, they dumped it out a window.

Marks in the mud showed the route the safe was carried past the backs of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, Goodwill Industries and Lady Baltimore Bakery to where it was put in a car behind the drive-in. The marks showed the thieves set their heavy load down several times.

Neither police nor Permanente sources could provide an estimate of the value of the narcotics. However, the safe was used solely for narcotics storage.

Hub Mother Is Just Itching To Start Poison Oak War

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

Mrs. Donald P. DeMartini of San Anselmo wants to launch a war on poison oak in Marin.

She said yesterday she got a runaround from government officials, but wheels have started to turn. She has the enthusiastic backing of the school nurse of the San Anselmo School District. She also has the support of her neighbors.

Her wrath was first aimed only at Marius J. Cordone, owner of 13 acres across from her home at 5 Brookside Drive. But she said she hopes the battle will spread, like the weed.

The battle started because her son Steven, 8, had to stay home from Isabel Cook School a week with itching sores covering his body.

"There's a little bit of poison oak that doesn't amount to a hill of beans," Cordone retorted when asked. "It might not have been my poison oak; it might have been someone else's poison oak."

But Cordone agreed to clear his land after hearing that the city had been approached. And yesterday city crews were in the neighborhood, hacking at leaves on the public right of way.

Mrs. DeMartini said her boy was not playing in the dangerous area, but two dogs owned by neighbors romped through the lot, and Steven petted the dogs.

RHUS DIVERSILOBA
Poison oak to you

The war got off to a slow start. No one with authority seemed interested. She called the city, the school district and the county health department.

"I must have talked to everyone from street sweeper on up," Mrs. DeMartini complained. She claimed she was told there was no city control over private property in this case.

She proposed an ordinance to force property owners to clear poison oak from their land. She found sympathy from Mrs. Opal Torrance, nurse for the San Anselmo School District. County Agricultural Commissioner Richard T. Straw also offered best wishes.

The nurse said that each winter many students spend several weeks out of school or become so uncomfortable in school because of itching that they cannot pay attention. She had no specific figures on absenses.

Finally the complaint indirectly came to the attention of San Anselmo City Administrator Douglas E. Flautt, who checked over existing ordinances and found the city has authority already to abate poison oak on private property.

The plant had been specifically included in the weed control ordinance. All that was needed was for Mrs. DeMartini to find two neighbors to join her in signing a petition to start abatement procedings. The city tries to keep the public land clear with its own forces.

Flautt went to the DeMartini home to take a look for himself and assure the mother she could

UNDERGROUNDING 'NO PIPE DREAM'

Inventor Says He Can Save $1,000 Per Lot With One-Ditch Utilities

The battle song for underground utilities was voiced with clear harmony last night by most of the speakers at a seminar attended by 150 in San Anselmo.

Even Pacific Gas and Electric Co. seemed to pick up the refrain and hum along with the rest of the crowd for most of the tune.

The session, sponsored by the City of Tiburon and the Fairfax Citizens' Study Group, was held in Alexander Hall of San Francisco Theological Seminary.

It featured a smorgasbord dinner and nine speakers. Inventor Stanley Hiller, the final speaker, sent the crowd home with something to think abount.

"Everyone has been talking abount how much extra it will cost to put all these wires underground. I can do it and save the builder $1,000 a lot," Hiller said.

He then explained how he puts all utilities, including power cable, in one ditch. Instead of having a ditch for the sewer, another for the water, and another for the gas, everything—including television and phone cables—goes into a single ditch.

Hiller showed that this was not just an inventor's pipe dream. He brought along movies of his Rossmore Leisure World tract at Walnut Creek, showing the one-ditch installation.

He showed how the fill in the ditch is heavily compacted so that it is almost like concrete. This keeps air and moisture out. The ditch is beneath the sidewalk where it is readily accessible by digging in from one side if repairs are needed.

Hiller admitted that his idea is in conflict with building codes in many areas and there is considerable resistance to any change.

"Four thousand years ago they were taking water out of the Nile in baskets. It took two thousand years before they started using pumps and another two thousand years before a dam was built. These things always take time," Hiller said.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. came in for considerable vilification. It was called "the biggest and most backward" of public utilities.

But Ellis Langley the only spokesman for the utility among the speakers, assured the audience that PG&E is making progress in development of underground service, "particularly in the past three years."

Langley, who is North Bay division sales manager for the utility, said new wood pole installations have been improved with elimination of crossarms, a "streamline" installation with transformers within the poles and service lines underground has been developed, and full underground installations have improved.

"You have to pay the added cost," Langley said.

Sheriff Arrests 450 Negroes As King Is Released

TOGETHERNESS

SELMA, Ala. (UPI)—Sheriff Jim Clark arrested 450 young Negroes today when they gathered in front of the Dallas County Courthouse and began singing "freedom" songs.

It was the second mass arrest made by Clark in the period of two hours.

Earlier he arrested 75 Negro demonstrators who knelt on the courthouse steps in prayer.

More than 3,300 Negroes have been taken into custody in Selma and nearby Marion since a Negro voter registration campaign was launched in the area two and one half weeks ago.

The 400 were taken into custody about the time that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Nobel Peace Prize winner who launched the demonstrations, was released from jail under $200 bond. He had been jailed for parading without a permit.

The bond was made after 15 congressmen led by Rep. Charles C. Diggs, D-Mich., arrived at City Hall.

Also released on bond was an associate of King, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy. They went out a side entrance and were greeted by Mrs. King.

The delegation of 75 arrested for praying walked to the courthouse to present a petition asking that the voter registration list be opened for their signatures on orders of federal Judge Daniel H. Thomas in Mobile.

About 100 Negroes Participated in the Marion demonstration. They stood singing "freedom" songs on the sidewalk, but finally dispersed after about 30 minutes when police failed to take any action.

The delegation walked to the courthouse to present a petition asking that the voter registration list be opened for their sig-

Flood Repair Held Delaying Freeway Work

Flood damage to Highway 101 in Northern California could delay construction of the San Rafael overpass and Novato bypass by one to three years, Alfred W. Bowman, President of the California Citizens Freeway Assn., learned yesterday in Sacramento.

Lester Koritz, public relations man for the Division of Highways in Sacramento, told Bowman that "It will take years to repair the damage to Highway 101."

He cited particularly the Smith River section, where the Highway is built on a ledge and must be totally reconstructed.

How much the flood repairs will delay other projects "will depend on the amount of damage, which we are now assessing, and the amount of contingency and emergency funds which can be applied to the reconstruction," Koritz said.

State Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, has introduced a bill in the State Legislature to increase the gasoline tax by one cent for six months to raise emergency funds. This would raise about two and one-half million dollars in that time.

In the event of failure of the Collier bill to pass the Legislature and failure of the federal government to assist in the reconstruction, it could well drain away new construction funds for the highway," Koritz said.

More Rain On Way After Soggy Night

A storm that arrived in Marin late yesterday left more than an inch and a half of rainfall in some areas of the county before making a slow retreat today.

The Weather Bureau predicted occasional showers through tomorrow morning with clearing in the afternoon.

Most rain was reported at Lagunitas Lake where 1.68 inches fell.

The wind caused several power outages in Novato and San Rafael. There were two breaks caused by falling limbs in the West Novato Boulevard area shortly after 6 p.m. One left three customers without power for 29 minutes and another left 200 customers in the dark for an hour and 25 minutes.

In San Rafael a break near Margarita Drive and Highland Avenue at 7:30 p.m. darkened 25 homes for an hour. Service for 10 homes was not restored after this break for three hours. Another outage of unknown cause knocked out service for an hour to 50 homes in the Marina Court Drive, San Pedro Road area for an hour.

Six homes in Inverness were without power throughout the night. Pacific Gas and Electric Co. crews were dispatched this morning to search for the break.

It was the county's first major storm in 10 days.

San Rafael had 1.27 of an inch,

Rabid Animal Marin's Third For This Year

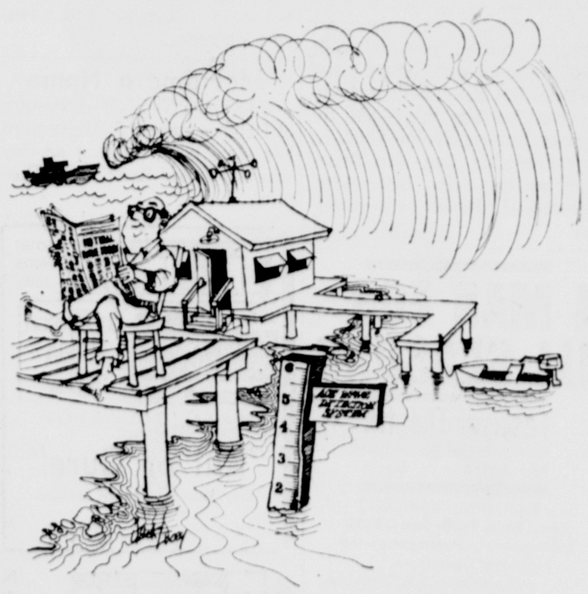
Marin County's third rabid animal this year—all in the Novato area—was reported yesterday by the health department.

Tests completed yesterday on a skunk, which was shot by Frank Williams near his home on the Burdell Ranch Tuesday afternoon, showed the animal was infected with rabies.

The skunk had no known contact with other animals or humans, the health department said.

The county's first rabid skunk for the year was shot by Novato Police patrolman J. O. Fitzgerald south of San Marin Drive Jan. 1.

The second rabies-infested skunk was found dead near the Roger Wilco Market in Ignacio Jan. 28.



WARY WARNING

Tidal Wave Is Coming— But How Can You Tell?

By RICHARD LYTTLE

With all their advanced technology and all their ambitions to get to the moon, scientists have neglected one of the basic comforts of home.

This neglect caused thousands of coastal residents, including many in Marin, to flee from a tidal wave that never came early yesterday. The reason is that predicting tidal waves is still in the horse and buggy era.

What it boils down to is that no one can predict how big a wave will be or when it will arrive until it hits.

"We have men working on this," Spellman Diez, technical assistant in the San Francisco office of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, declared today. It is the Coast and Geodetic Survey's responsibility to issue warnings under its Seismic Wave Warning System.

The system works with 28 stations scattered around the Pacific that measure vertical variations in sea level, plus about 10 seismographs which can estimate the center of an earthquake.

The seismograph station at Hawaii maintains a 24-hour watch. The other stations must be alerted after the first report and asked to read their machines and estimate bearings, Diez explained.

At the same time, the stations which read sea level are alerted and told to report any rise in

Gold Bullion Is Missing

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — Gold bullion worth $280,000 was reported missing today from the liner Capetown Castle. Ten boxes of bullion were gone.

Scotland Yard sealed off the liner and began an investigation. The Capetown Castle arrived here this morning from South Africa where the gold was put aboard.

The only call made by the Capetown Castle during its voyage was at Las Palmas, in the Canary Islands, on Feb. 1.

A spokesman said the discrepancy was discovered in the tally of the gold landed and of the amount that should have been aboard.

Two Autos Seek Out Own Kind

A chance encounter between two 1955 Pontiacs on San Rafael's Miracle Mile just before 5 p.m. yesterday developed into such lasting togetherness that police, two tow trucks and a cutting torch took an hour to get them apart, blocking traffic in one lane.

It all happened when Gertrude Mary Foley, 1311 Clinton Court, San Rafael, slowed her westbound sedan to turn onto Crescent Drive West. Gary Lee Evans, of 24 Marquard Street, San Rafael, driving just behind her was trying to wipe away rain leaking into his convertible, and did not see her signal in time. His car's front bumper locked with her car's rear bumper.

While home-bound commute traffic became more and more snarled one tow truck's hook fouled in the bumpers; a second tow truck was unable to pull the cars apart. Finally, Lawrence Azevedo of T. & T. Garage used a cutting torch to separate the ever-lovin' bumpers.

Neutralist Premier Emerges As Strong Leader In Laos

Rightist Rebel Fugitive After Battle In Streets

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma emerged today as Laos' strongman but the once powerful deputy premier, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, is described as a fugitive in the jungle with a handful of policemen.

A sharp turn of events after the week's fighting in the tiny kingdom has left Phoumi without the major role he held as rightwing leader in the shaky neutralist-rightist coalition government headed by neutralist Premier Souvanna.

"The government declared him a rebel and will arrest him if he tries to come back," a Cabinet minister said in an interview.

The official, Ngon Sananikone, minister of transport and public works, added that the military may shoot Phoumi if he is captured.

Phoumi, 44, had been a dominant figure in the confusing struggle for power in Laos since 1959 when he became defense minister, thus controlling the 30,000-man royal Laotian army.

His rise began after he engineered an army coup that forced the resignation of Phoumi Sananikone as premier on Dec. 31, 1959. He also directed the military operation in 1960 that ousted the regime of Premier Souvanna.

Souvanna regained the premiership in June 1962 and made himself defense minister. Phoumi was relegated to finance minister, losing control of the army.

Now forces loyal to Souvanna have crushed Phoumi's apparent bid to regain power in 10 hours of furious street fighting. Military sources said at least 60 persons were killed in the abortive revolt Wednesday and uncounted others wounded.

U.C. Murder Suspect Ordered To Hearing

CONCORD (AP) — Graduate student Nicolas Robert Kaell has been ordered to appear in Municipal Court Feb. 11 for a hearing on the murder charge against him in the slaying of University of California Prof. David P. Hackett.

Kaell pleaded innocent yesterday to the charge. He was arraigned before Judge Wroy F. Renaghan after Contra Costa County District Attorney John A. Nejedly met with law enforcement officers and later reported that enough evidence had been gathered to file a complaint against Kaell. They did not say what the evidence was.

Hackett's body was found here Jan. 22. He had been beaten and shot to death. Kaell, 29, a student in one of Hackett's classes, said he was studying for the professor's final examination the night the 39-year-old biochemist disappeared.

Although neither Contra Costa Sheriff Walter Young nor chief detective Walter Trawick publicly revealed full evidence against Kaell, defense attorney Steven Welch Jr. commented on the case. He discussed the following evidence:

—Officers said a gun purchased by Kaell in May used ammunition similar to the bullets found near Hackett's body. Welch said Kaell lost the gun "some time ago."

—Welch said Kaell had an explanation for his possession of maps of Buchanan air field, near where the professor's body was found. Kaell is a member of the University Flying Club, Welch said, and the club uses Buchanan Field.

Associates of Kaell's at the University of California reported that he spent Christmas vacation on flying missions to help flood victims at Yreka.

—Welch repeated the disclosure that, after studying on the night of Jan. 21, Kaell went to Cowell Hospital on the university campus complaining of chest pains. He checked in there about 3:30 p.m., Jan. 22, Welch said, and was released at 8 a.m. the next day.

Attorney Tells Of Trysts With Accused Murderess

SAN BERNARDINO (AP) — The last prosecution witness in the trial of Lucille Miller — charged with murdering her husband — is a handsome, dapper attorney who has testified of motel trysts with her.

Arthwell C. Hayton was called to the stand yesterday, then questioned by the prosecutor about his relationship with Mrs. Miller, 35, the pregnant mother of three who is on trial in the death of her husband, Gordon, a 39-year-old dentist.

Hayton, 41, testified that prior to the death of his wife — and Miller — Mrs. Miller proposed marriage to him.

When he stopped seeing her, she hounded him, phoned him repeatedly, said she would ruin his reputation, and once threatened his life, he said.

Then defense attorney Edward P. Foley asked him:

"Have you registered in motels with Lucille Miller?"

Hayton paused before replying: "Yes, sir."

"And you used different names. One of the names was Jack Wardruff, wasn't it?"

Hayton dropped his head in his hands: "Yes, sir," he said.

Foley produced a birthday card Hayton admitted he had sent to Mrs. Miller, Jan. 23, 1964, when she was 34. The inscription read:

"Hi Sweetie Pie!

"You are my cup of tea!

"Happy birthday — you don't look a day over 29!

"Your baby—Arthwell."

Hayton's wife, Elaine, died last April 24. Miller burned to death in the family car last Oct. 8. Hayton testified he saw Mrs. Miller "on many occasions" between November 1963 and June 1, 1964.

The state—which is expected to rest its case Monday.

Hasty LBJ Conference Draws Fire

Newsmen Crowd Into Theater, Can't Hear Him

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's latest news conference, called on short notice and held in crowded quarters, did little to quiet reporters' complaints about the timing and form of such sessions.

Nor did the Chief Executive score many points—among newsmen, at least—with his explanation of why he did not send Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to London for the funeral of Sir Winston Churchill.

IN THEATER

For most Washington newsmen, there was less than 40 minutes notice yesterday that the President was planing a news conference at 11 a.m. EST in the White House theater. The theater has been converted into a television studio.

Reporters scurried to the White House only to find 40 or so chairs in the theater room had long since been taken by fulltime White House correspondents. So, more than 100 newsmen stood jammed together in the back of the room, or at one side. Many were unble to hear Johnson's remarks, or to be recognized to ask questions.

There had been grumbles among Washington reporters that Johnson's office news conferences, called without warning, prevented experts on foreign policy, military affairs, economics and other matters from attending and asking pithy questions in their fields. Several foreign policy experts were on hand yesterday, but Johnson gave all of them the same answer he gave "regulars" about U.S. intentions in South Viet Nam.

BELOW AVERAGE

Because of the brief advance notice, the number of newsmen who turned up was less than half the average which appeared at the few sessions Johnson held after one day's or even several hours' notice. There were far fewer than the number who attended news conferences by the lat President John F. Kennedy at the State Department auditorium. But the White House theater couldn't have held any more people, anyway—and many who were there could not see because of television and newsreel cameras.

FEARSOME CHINESE DRAGON

This is Marc Olson, a Belvedere Nursery School tyke, but you'd scarcely know it as Marc is disguised as head dragon (or dragon's head?) for the school's Chinese New Year parade at 2 p.m. today at the Boardwalk Shopping Center. Marc is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Walter Olson, 535 Comstock Drive, Tiburon. (Independent-Journal photo)

STEVENSON SEES STRONG U.N. NEED

Adlai Says Indonesia Is Illustration; Ambassador Marks His 65th Birthday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —As Adlai E. Stevenson sees it, some countries want to weaken the United Nations and Red China seeks to break it up — but Indonesia's withdrawal actually shows the need for a stronger U.N.

Stevenson, the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, is 65 today.

In a birthday interview with The Associated Press, he said:

"There is strong leadership from the Chinese Communists to break up the organization — either because it is a peacekeeping organization or because it doesn't promote the ambitions of the Chinese Communists."

Peking's drive has intensified a hazard that "every frustrated member" might feel a conflict with its national interest and follow Indonesia out, Stevenson said, "but I don't think it is likely."

Indonesia announced its withdrawal last month because Malaysia was elected to the Security Council.

"I don't apprehend much trouble from that source," Stevenson observed. "I think that while the example of Indonesia is there, it has served to dramatize to the rest of the membership the importance of a stronger U.N."

He expressed belief the United States could get a two-thirds vote, if necessary, to apply Article 19. That provision of the U.N. Charter says any member two years behind in paying its assessments — like the Soviet Union, France and 11 others — shall have no vote in the assembly.

Stevenson said the dispute over Article 19 is "between those who want to preserve the organization intact ... and those who don't, or don't care, or don't even perceive what's involved here."

The basic deadlock is whether the assembly's peacekeeping assessments are binding. If the deadlock is not broken by the time the assembly reconvenes Monday, Stevenson said, he thought it might name a committee to negotiate all differences. If the assembly wants a postponement, he said, the United States would like it as short as possible because "it ought to be possible to ascertain quickly" if the dispute can be settled.

Job Placements Boosted In Marin

Hiring of inventory clerks for short-time jobs last month boosted the number of job placements made through the San Rafael office of the State Department of Employment to 593 from 448 in December, Edwin Ayer, manager, said yesterday.

Unemployment insurance benefit payments rose to an average of 1,540 per week in January, compared to 1,122 per week in December and 1,060 in January, 1964. The number of weekly payments was increased by post-holiday layoffs in post offices and retail stores and a virtual shutdown of construction projects from mid-December to mid-January, he said.

Soldier Assigned

Army Pvt. Danny M. Johnson, son of Mrs. Patricia J. Tibbals, 567 Virginia Dr., Tiburon, has been assigned to the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Driver Fair After Crash

Robert J. McGuinness, 37, of 50 Rowley Drive, Tiburon, was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with injuries suffered in a two-car collision yesterday.

The McGuinness car was behind one driven by Marvella J. Weber, 42, of 127 Grove Street, Corte Madera, as both headed north on Highway 101 over Sausalito at 6 p.m. yesterday.

The Weber car stopped in the roadway near the Wolfback Ridge turnoff, because of slow traffic. The McGuinness car struck it. McGuinness suffered a fractured right knee cap and cuts.

Sneaky Customers Purloin Purse, $4

A purse containing $4 in cash was stolen from the office of the Mill Valley Furniture Shop at 59 Throckmorton Avenue Wednesday, Mrs. Betty Swearingen reported to police.

She said it disappeared after two men, in their 20's, entered the store and one looked for rugs in one part of the store while the other remained in the main portion of the shop.

Brown Appeals Again For Budget Support

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown renewed his defense of his 1965-66 budget today before the 7th Biennial County Government Institute for New Supervisors and asked the county office holders for cooperation.

In prepared remarks to the 63 new supervisors, Brown said the budget demonstrates that "local government should decide where the greatest need exists at the local level."

He noted that expenditures for county governments total $711 million, excluding assistance for public schools and flood control. This is more than 25 per cent of total allocations to counties made by all the other 49 states in 1962, the latest year for which comparative figures are available.

But Brown said California counties still are pressed by rising school needs. The main reason, he added, why his administration is asking for tax increases for the next two years is to finance state aid to local schools.

The governor called for simplifying the welfare program by reducing red tape procedures and "voluminous record - keeping." He said he will ask business and technological firms to devise simpler methods.

Brown also proposed making the tax burden more equal for welfare costs. He said the average county cost in 1963-64 was five cents of each dollar. But in Trinity County it was 13 cents, and in Orange County, three cents, he noted.

HAFB Calls Bids

The base procurement office today called for bids to supply pew cushions at Hamilton Air Force Base. It also announced award of a $5,463 contract to Solano Ambulance Co. of Vallejo for medical oxygen and nitrous oxide.

Marin City Boy Back Home Again

A 13-year-old Marin City boy who felt he was a "burden" to his family was back home today after disappearing last Saturday and walking to the Cow Palace in Daly City and back.

Robert Webb was found last night with friends at Fort Baker. He told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Webb of House 103, he thought he was a burden to them. The Webbs have six children.

He said he walked to San Francisco Saturday afternoon, then to the Cow Palace to hear the girl singers, the Supremes. He then walked back to Marin and visited Fort Baker friends. Tuesday, while the Webbs were away, he went home and changed clothes, and hid a suitcase of clothes in the hills behind Richardson Bay School.

Mrs. Webb said she notified the Marin County Sheriff's Department and military police, who looked for Robert. Last night a Fort Baker resident telephoned Mrs. Webb, saying "Robert is here."

TB Tests Set For Schools

All pupils in Tomales and Marshall elementary schools will receive tuberculin skin tests March 8 if their parents consent, trustees of Tomales Bay School District decided last night.

The board signed the agreement with the Marin County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. and Marin County Health Department to give the tests.

The trustees approved purchasing $1,500 in equipment to improve the reading and English programs under the National Defense Education Act. The federal government will repay half, according to Mrs. Lois Parks, clerk of the board.

commissions be created to act on the three-dimensional aspects of planning and do away with "visual pollution" even if it does cost more. McVicar, chairman of the recreation department of the City of Fremont and the chairman of the technical advisory committee of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments, said the extra cost would be returned in increased real estate values.

"The visual pollution by monstrous poles and hideous wires must stop," McVicar declared.

It was Paul McCloskey, special counsel for Woodside, who accused PG&E of being backward. He said the company quoted costs of $600 a lot to put power lines underground in 1962. Now the figure has come down to about $175 a lot.

McCloskey charged that there is "no excuse" for the so-called streamline installation when underground installation can do away entirely with poles and wires.

McCloskey called upon PG&E to apply its profits toward undergrounding the existing lines. McCloskey also said that the dedicated men in the utility should be encouraged. "These challenges have already stimulated them," he said.

Marin County Planning Director D. B. Dobbs expanded on this theme saying that people must want underground utilities so that public officials are encouraged to legislate for them and utilities are stimulated to improve their technology.

James Austin, superintendent of the electrical department in the City of Oakland, made detailed comparison between the streamlined and full underground installations and concluded that the underground had all the advantages.

Ernest Kramm, public relations consultant for the Electrical Contractors Assn., charged that lack of competitive bidding on PG&E installations is holding the underground price at a higher level than necessary.

Kramm was unable to attend last night, but his talk was read by moderator John S. Hoffmire, vice mayor of Tiburon.

Carl Martineau, a consulting engineer and vice mayor of Fremont, charged that it is lethargy and resistance to change which hampered undeground installations. He also called upon public encouragement for the PG&E.

Sam Kauffman of Brown and Kauffman, developers who have built several tracts with underground services, admitted that builders themselves have been slow and lazy in the field. He also called upon cities and counties to re-examine their electrical codes to meet the changes brought on by undergrounding services.

Several speakers had said that ordinances requiring underground utilities might well make exceptions where rocky soil makes digging difficult.

When Hiller rose to speak, one of the first things he asked was if there should be exceptions made for other utilities in rocky soil. "Would you allow sewer lines on the surface?"

Bay Model Tour

A public tour of the San Francisco Bay Model on Bridgeway in Sausalito will be held from 9 a.m. to noon tomorrow, according to Lt. Col. Robert H. Allan, district engineer of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Beauty Pageant Planned

The winner of the Marin County Beauty Pageant April 29 may be chosen to compete in both the Miss Universe and Miss International Beauty Queen pageants, it was announced last night by Mrs. Esther Dearth, co-chairman of the "May in Marin" beauty pageant committee.

She announced that the Marin Visitors Bureau has obtained the exclusive Marin County franchise for the Miss California Beauty Pageant in Los Angeles, June 28 through July 3. "May in Marin" contest winner will compete in that contest and if she wins, will be eligible to enter the Miss Universe contest in Miami Beach, Fla. She will also be eligible to enter the Miss International Beauty Queen Pageant at Long Beach, Mrs. Dearth said.

The Marin County Beauty pageant will open the "May in Marin" celebration, Mrs. Dearth said.

The next meeting of the visitors bureau will be held at noon Feb. 17 at the Redwood Club, San Rafael.

Papers Circulate For Candidate

Only one set of nomination papers for the San Rafael city election on April 12 was in circulation today, according to City Clerk W. Clifford Cornwell.

In addition, forms for the appointment of verification deputies have been issued to Robert F. Loberg of 392 Devon Drive, president of the Terra Linda Valley Property Owners Assn.

The set of nomination forms in circulation was taken out by incumbent City Councilman Harry Barbier.

Although nomination papers are available now, they may be filed only between Feb. 26 and March 12, Cornwell said.

Architect Named For Fire Station

Belvedere architect Allan Steinau Jr., was named by the Tiburon Fire Commission last night to draw plans for completion of the district's second fire station at Trestle Glen Boulevard and Paradise Drive.

Plans for the addition to the present engine room will include living quarters for up to six men and kitchen facilities. No firm cost estimate had yet been made for the project, Chief Frank J. Buscher said. The addition is expected to be completed in 1966.

natures on orders of federal Judge Daniel H. Thomas in Mobile.

The Rev. C. T. Vivian, an Atlanta Negro leader of Dr. Martin Luther King's organization, led the delegation to the courthouse. Clark refused to admit them.

Instead, Clark read Vivian an order of the local court forbidding any congregation in front of the courthouse that would disrupt normal business.

"How long have you lived in Dallas County?" Clark asked Vivian.

The Negro said he does not live here, but turning to the group in front of him on the sidewalk, said in a loud voice, "but these people do."

Clark ordered Vivian's group to disperse, but Vivian refused to budge in the face-to-face confrontation which came about 30 minutes before the scheduled arrival of a congressional delegation.

RAIN

bringing the season total to 31.52, well ahead of the seasonal average of 22.31. Last year at this time, the total was 16.06.

Other rainfall totals as of 8 a.m. today included Ross, 1.58; San Anselmo, 1.53; Kent Lake, 1.45; Bon Tempe Lake, 1.40; Alpine Lake and Larkspur, 1.30; Chevy Chase in Larkspur, 1.25; Mill Valley, 1.16; Tamalpais Valley, 1.15; Sausalito, .94; Belvedere, .92; Novato, .83; Point Reyes Station, .82; and Nicasio Lake, .77.

Sergeant Injured As Car Hits Ditch

S/Sgt. Robert Keffer, 35, of 431 Alameda del Prado, Novato, was cut on the head when thrown against the windshield of his car as it hit a ditch at Aberdeen Road and Radio Intelligence Road on Hamilton Air Force Base at 2:30 a.m. today, air police reported.

Sergeant Keffer was reported in good condition in the base hospital. He is stationed at the San Rafael Nike Site.

Boy Scouts Delay Staging 'Tent City'

Novato area Boy Scouts, who planned to turn the Marion School playground into a "tent city" for the weekend, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal, have been forced to postpone their event for a week because of mud.

The seven troops will set up their tents and stage demonstrations on Feb. 13 and 14, weather permitting.

Notary Is Licensed

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issuance of a notary public commission to Helen L. Russell, c/o Leon C. Felton, 601 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

Kettenhofen Freeway Plan Gets Backing

Directors of the San Anselmo Homes Assn. have voted to support Marin County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen's plan for extension of Highway 17 from the Civic Center to western Marin along a ridge route bypassing central San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax.

The Association has urged that no freeway be allowed to cut through communities of less than 50,000 population, according to Thomas Stoddard, president.

In a letter to the San Anselmo City Council, the association said: "A larger community, such as Fresno or Sacramento, can cover or cope with the freeway scar, a small community is irrevocably divided.

"It has been stated that a freeway would mean the death of downtown San Anselmo and Fairfax. Most of Fairfax would be physically wiped out. San Anselmo would become a mere freeway appendage that is too much trouble to get to and is bypassed for bigger shopping areas. . . .

"The cost of coming through the highly developed areas of San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax would create huge costs in property acquisition before the first scoops of dirt were turned."

It was one hour and 18 minutes after the first report of Wednesday night's earthquake before the Coast and Geodetic Survey knew it was centered in the Aleutian Islands. Two hours later the first reports began coming in from Alaskan and Aleutian stations on rises in sea level.

The station on Attu reported an eight-foot rise, Diez said.

The Coast and Geodetic Survery makes all its progressive reports available to civil defense organizations. It is up to the civil defense groups to interpret the reports and decide what should be done about alerting residents.

Wednesday's earthquake was less severe than the Alaskan earthquake which caused the damaging tidal wave that hit Crescent City, Sausalito and parts of San Rafael on March 28, 1964.

However, it is impossible to make any predictions from earthquake force on what seismic waves will do, Diez said. They do not submit to any fixed formulas of force and rate.

Diez said that no one can explain why the March earthquake last year hit Crescent City so hard, but did not do damage in other nearby areas.

Waves are virtually impossible to observe far at sea since there is no fixed object to measure them against. A ship could pass right over a large wave without anyone knowing it, Diez said.

He said the Washington office of the Coast and Geodetic Survey has had the problem under study for some time and a report is due this month, outlining what is known about predicting waves.

Repeated warnings for tidal waves that do not arrive could result in a complacency among coastal residents, but Diez said warnings must continue to be issued until more is known of the problem.

"It's not that we're overly cautious," he said. "It's just that we have a basic lack of information."

have time on the city council agenda next Tuesday. She quickly got signatures from every home on the block.

Since workers are removing poison oak in the neighborhood, she said, she will probably "sit on" the petition for now, rather than appearing at the council meeting, unless others want to take up the cudgels.

Mrs. Torrance said she hoped more would happen. She said the problem exists throughout the county, and she would like to see a county policy of control, at least in heavily traveled areas.

Straw said he would support a strong county regulation, but warned that eradication is expensive in large areas.

The county could give away spray, the way rat poison is distributed, the agricultural commissioner said. But the most effective poisons are dangerous, and only one pint or less may be used by anyone without a license.

Bundy, Khanh Hold Talks

SAIGON (UPI)—White House aide McGeorge Bundy today met with Vietnamese strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh on the second day of a fact-finding mission to South Viet Nam.

Bundy at first was reported to have canceled the meeting with Khanh, commander-in-chief of the South Vietnamese armed forces. But the meeting only was put off for four hours because Bundy was tied up wtih communications from Washington, sources said.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, who sat in on the meeting at Khanh's riverside residence, described the talks as "warm and cordial."

Police Dispatcher's Scooter Ruined

San Rafael police dispatcher Harold W. Thomson was slightly injured and his motor scooter was demolished in a collision at noon yesterday at B and First streets.

Police cited the other driver, Anton Michael Kalafatich, 378 Via Casitas, Greenbrae, for violation of right of way and turning without a proper signal, after he made a left turn from the southbound lane of B Street into Thomson's northbound scooter.

Battery Charge Dismissed, But Driver Is Fined

Clyde James Ahern, 22, was fined $166, sentenced to 10 days in county jail, and placed on six months probation yesterday in Marin Court on his guilty plea to drunken driving.

A charge of battery on San Rafael Officer Donal Merkley was dismissed.

Ahern, of 77 Spruce Road, Fairfax, was booked on the charges last Sept. 1 after he and a companion, James Alan Calkins, 21, of 1567 Fourth Street in San Rafael, allegedly were involved in fights at a service station at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, and at Karl's Klub, 977 Grant Avenue, Novato

A bench warrant for arrest of Calkins, also charged with battery, has been issued.

Another drunken driver, Daniel Roscoe Porter, 45, of 1064 Eighth Street, Novato, was fined $330 and given five days in jail. He was arrested Jan. 25 by California Highway Patrol on Highway 101 and had a prior conviction.

Doctor's Medical Bag Is Stolen

A car burglar stole a doctor's medical bag containing $250 to $300 worth of medical instruments, a pad of prescription blanks and small quantities of narcotics yesterday afternoon, San Rafael police said.

Dr. Dallas L. Wagner reported the wind-wing of his auto, parked at 50 Margarita Drive, San Rafael, was smashed with a chunk of concrete to steal the bag, between 1 and 6:45 p.m.

OBITUARIES

May Crisler Dies At 77

May Crisler of 1025 Via Escondia, Loma Verde, a 15-year resident of Marin, died at a local hospital yesterday after a brief illness. She was 77.

Mrs. Crisler was a native of Attica, Kans. She was the widow of Dr. Marcus P. Crisler, who had a medical practice in Kansas prior to his death in 1938.

'TWAS BAD NIGHT FOR POLICE CAR

Patrolman John F. Riordan of San Rafael police headed for the Northgate Shopping Center last midnight in response to a burglar alarm. His speeding police car skidded at the Forbes overhead, striking a pillar on the right side, then spinning back to hit another on the left side. Riordan's seat belt saved him from severe injury. Looking over the completely wrecked car is Police Sgt. James Carlton. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

CONCERT REVIEW

Musical Surprise: Two Bands On Hand

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Two bands instead of one was the surprise last night at the concert presented by the San Francisco State College Band at Tamalpais High School.

The first — the 92-instrument college symphonic band — appealed to the more serious music lovers in the audience of about 400 adults and students in Ruby Scott Auditorium. The second—a stage band composed of players within the full band—brought wild acclaim and spontaneous applause from the teenagers.

This was to be expected, for it was a highly skilled group that specialized in the Berkeley School of Jazz numbers played by the famed Herb Pomeroy Orchestra in Boston.

The symphonic band, directed by Dr. Edwin C. Kruth, is a brilliant, disciplined ensemble that produces a sharp, clear and powerful sound with such remarkable precision that each family of instruments sounds like one magnified in volume.

That the woodwind section made such an overwhelming impression was due not only to its excellence but to its placement at the front of the stage. The seating arrangement necessary on this type of stage occasioned some loss of brilliance by the brasses but not enough to spoil the electrifying sonority.

Another surprise was that about one-third of the band is composed of girls, including the lead trombonist, Janice Gaynor, who was featured with trumpeter Charles Couch in an exciting double concerto for trumpet, trombone and concert band by Frank Erickson.

Of exceptional interest was the programming. Both the symphonic and stage bands performed very difficult music. Not a single "war horse" was included, and numbers were almost entirely contemporary by such composers as Roger Nixon of the San Francisco State College faculty and Peter Mennin, president of the Julliard School of Music in New York.

The stage band was directed by its saxophonist leader, Bennett Friedman.

Pole House Costs

Cost of 30 new "pole type" houses to be built in Marin City ranges from $20,950 to $23,861. The cost range was reported incorrectly Wednesday as from $29,950 to $23,861.

Reward Offered For Return Of Eagle To Post Office

A reward is being offered for return of a hand-carved redwood eagle which had hung on the outside wall of the Belvedere-Tiburon Post Office until last Saturday.

David W. Allen, Belvedere developer, and Mrs. Paula Porter, owner of the Tiburon Turntable in the Boardwalk Shopping Center, have offered a reward of unspecified amount. The amount will be determined by the circumstances of the return of the eagle, Allen said.

Allen also suggested that the bird may be returned annonymously by leaving it in the post office lobby or in some other public place.

Mrs. Porter's late husband donated use of the eagle to the post office about eight years ago. The eagle reputedly was carved from a piece of California redwood taken to Japan by Adm. Matthew Perry and is said to have hung before the first United States Embassy in Tokyo.

California's motor-fuel consumption last year reached over 6.5 billion gallons.

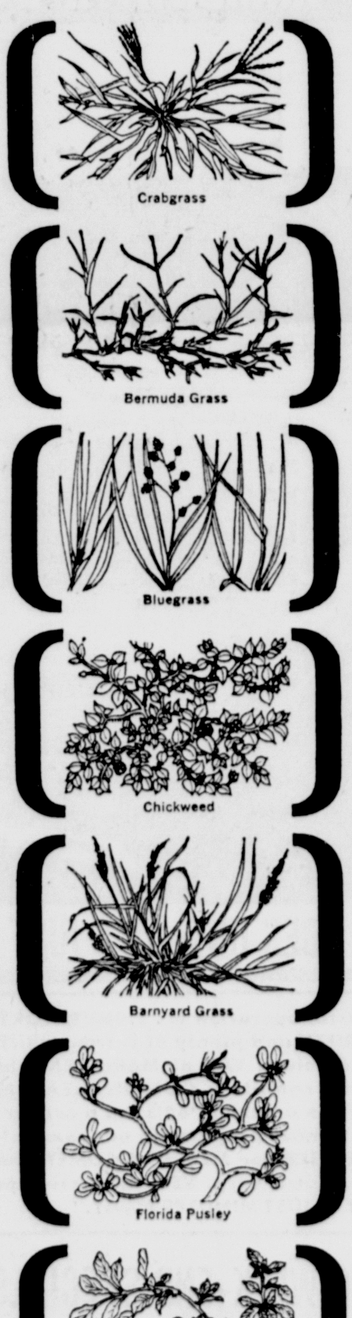
THESE ARE THE WEEDS YOU WON'T HAVE TO PULL WHEN YOU USE GERMAIN'S DICHONDRA WEED CONTROL



A proven product that gets to more weeds than other brands

No more bending, no more back aches. Just spread on Germain's Dichondra Weed Control, an outstanding, new product that knocks out established Bluegrass and Bermuda Grass, Crabgrass before it sprouts, and eleven more unwelcome weeds. While it dooms weeds and grasses that encroach on your dichondra, Germain's does not burn or retard your lawn, even a newly seeded one.

GETS TO MORE WEEDS THAN OTHER BRANDS

That's because Germain's is made with uniform granules. Each granule is impregnated with all the elements in the product . . . and this includes Diphenamid, the miraculous weed control chemical. These uniform granules provide a smooth, even texture that spreads evenly, gets to every part of your lawn. Not every product sold as a weed control can make this claim. The result: Large and small particles, an uneven mix in which the weed control agent reaches only part of your lawn. With Germain's you're assured of complete weed control coverage.

FEEDS DICHONDRA TOO

Not only does Germain's knock out weeds, it feeds your dichondra just the right amount of nourishing nitrogen fertilizer to keep it green and healthy. For a beautiful, weed-free lawn, ask for Germain's Dichondra Weed Control.

Gun Wound Kills Youth In San Rafael

William Stuart Walker, 18, of 35 Loma Linda, San Rafael, a freshman at University of California, Davis, died at home yesterday of a self-inflected gunshot.

Walker, son of James W. and Livia Walker, was at home during the break between semesters at college. He was to return for the spring semester today.

He left no note, but was worried about grades at school and upset about a recent break-up with a girl friend, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

Wednesday night he stayed up late with his mother watching a movie on television. He went to his room at 11:15 p.m.

He fired a .22-caliber rifle into his chest, muffling the sound with a pillow, the coroner's office said.

His mother, who left the home yesterday morning, did not discover the body until 2 p.m. when she returned and looked into his room.

Young Walker, a June graduate from San Rafael High School, was a member of Marin Chapter of the Key Club at the high school. He was studying engineering at Davis.

He was born in San Francisco and had lived 17 years in Marin County.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Private burial will be in Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

Sheet Music Taken

A brief case and three notebooks full of sheet music were stolen Monday from a car parked on Fifth Avenue opposite the San Rafael Military Academy, San Rafael police learned today through a letter from the victim, Marvin Scott of San Francisco. Scott reported a window was broken to gain entry.

Top Priority Given Opportunity Funds

Walter Bremond, newly appointed county director of community relations, told the Marin County Human Rights Commission last night that top priority has been given to developing a county program to qualify for funds under the Economic Opportunity Act.

The community action committee for Marin City has developed a program for expansion and improvement of the study center there, Bremond said.

The center, at Richardson Bay School, provides study hall programs for students from Sausalito and Tamalpais high school districts.

"The community action committee also has identified two other areas of urgent need, work training for young people and a pre-school education program," Bremond said.

He said he has given second priority to coordinating community resources in Marin City. "There are 16 groups and agencies operating in Marin City, and very little coordination between them," he reported.

Third on his list, Bremond said, was working on school dropouts and potential dropouts, and fourth, working with the Marin City Community Services District.

Bremond, who was hired to work in part as a director for the Human Rights Commission, gave commission work fifth place on his priority list. After outlining all his other duties, he said he would have little time left to work with the commission and its task forces.

Lanny Berry, field worker for community relations service, who has been working on the dropout problem, said that it is harder to get jobs than it is to get job training.

The commission recommended that Rev. John O'Conner of St. Raphael's Catholic Parish be appointed to the commission to succeed Msgr. Daniel J. McAlister, who died last month.

Ross School Plans Approved

Final drawings of $350,000 worth of construction and improvements at the Ross School were approved by the Ross School District board at a special meeting last night.

"We hope to get approval on the project from the state office of architecture and construction by the middle of April," Supt. William W. Monahan said today.

As soon as the state approves the plans, the district will call for bids on the multi-purpose room, four classrooms, repairs to the present building, and conversion of the present multi-purpose room into an enlarged library and the present library into another classroom, Monahan said.

Theft of jewelry and cash from his apartment was belatedly discovered and reported to San Rafael police yesterday by George Leonetti, 9 Marion Court, San Rafael.

Possible Burglary Reported; $230 Chain Saw Is Stolen

Possible burglary of Marinwood Cleaners, 187 Marinwood Avenue, was reported by sheriff's officers yesterday.

Deputies said the owner, Cora E. Goyette, informed them a rear door lock had been taped by someone to prevent latching, and bits of paper were jammed in the lock's catch.

Nothing was found to be missing, officers said. The incident was reported by the owner yesterday.

Harold R. Bucklin of Berkeley told deputies a $230 chain saw was stolen from a tool shed on Upper Vision Road in Inverness during the past two months. Door hinges were removed for entry, he said.

A small aluminum skiff, valued at under $200, was stolen from Golden Hinde Boatel on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Inverness, Davis Campbell, employee, told officers yesterday.

A donation box containing $1 was taken Tuesday from the office of St. Hilary's School, 761 Hilary Drive, Tiburon. Marie Petersen, a school secretary, said the office was ransacked but there was no evidence of forced entry.

Woodley B. Smith, operator of Tam Valley Launderette at Dolan's Corner on Shoreline Highway, reported $55 in coins stolen from the firm's coin-changer machines Jan. 29-30. He told deputies a key may have been used.

Stanford Campus In Uproar On Teacher Morals Charge

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—The Stanford University campus was in an uproar today over charges by two former student leaders that the dean of women tried to recruit co-eds to report "erotic" and "objectionable" material presented by professors in English classes.

The charges were made in a report prepared by Darrell Halverson and Nora Crow, former chairmen of the men's and women's councils of the university. The report was submitted to President Wallace Sterling and published yesterday in the student newspaper, The Stanford Daily.

Halverson and Miss Crow said Dean of Women Lucille Allen "attributed some of the problems which occur among freshmen (women) to the salacious materials they study in freshman English and to the erotic approach adopted by many young professors."

Dean Allen denied the charges, and Dean of Students H. Donald Winbigler said "the personal attack upon Dean Allen is both regrettable and unwarranted."

More Lawyers Going On Mississippi Trek

Two more Marin County lawyers will fly tonight to Jackson, Miss., to take depositions in Mississippi's congressional election dispute.

Robert D. Carrow, mayor of Novato and member of the Novato law firm of Carrow and Jones, and Joseph Forest of San Rafael, member of the San Rafael legal firm of Riede and Elliott, will be among five Bay Area attorneys flying to Jackson. There, each will be assigned to one of the 12 counties where investigation of registration irregularities is under way.

They will spend 10 days in Mississippi, Carrow reported.

The registration challenge is by the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, which attempted to seat its delegates at the Democrats' convention in Atlantic City, and failing that, nominated candidates and conducted its own election. It claims election of five Mississippi congressmen last November was improper because Negroes had improperly been denied the vote. Four of the congressmen are Democrats; the fifth, a Republican.

The two Marin lawyers joining the deposition-taking will run against some surprising—and discouraging—facts, according to Alvin H. Goldstein of Sleepy Hollow, another Marin attorney who participated in the work last month.

Goldstein cited some figures: In Clare County, Miss., last year, of 6,072 eligible whites, 5,000 were registered to vote; of 2,988 eligible Negroes, only one was registered. In Kemper County, every one of 3,113 eligible whites was registered, but only nine of 3,675 eligible Negroes.

Mississippi voter registration laws require the applicant to take a test. A part of this is to copy a section of the state constitution, then interpret it. "The darker the registrant, the more obscure the section," said Goldstein.

He related some of the things told him by Negroes who had tried without success to register:

"I waited in line from 8:30 to 5 but they never got to me."

"I took the test; they told me to come back in six weeks and when I did they couldn't find my paper."

"I waited all day with 50 others and they only processed four or five all day."

Another requirement of the law is that names of new registrants be published in a local newspaper so any citizen can file an objection based on "moral turpitude."

Goldstein quoted one would-be registrant:

"When my name was published I lost my job and then I went back and they told me I hadn't filled in all the blanks. When I asked to see the paper, they said I had to be a registered voter to look at the records, so I took the test again and when I went back they couldn't find any record that I had taken the test."

Getting depositions is not so simple, Goldstein related, because the Negroes—not the visiting northern attorneys — are made to feel danger of reprisals.

"White Mississippians caustically refer to their state as occupied territory," he said. "The army of occupation, in their minds, is the federal government."

State College To Offer Marin Teachers Courses

Eight extension courses for Marin County elemental school teachers will be offered by Sonoma State College starting next week.

The classes include a language arts workshop at Neil Cummins School, Corte Madera, Tuesday from 7 to 9:45 p.m., and weekly workshops at Vallecito School in Terra Linda for social science teachers from 7:30 to 10:15 p.m. Tuesdays, for science teachers from 7:30 to 10:15 p.m., Thursdays, and for music teachers from 4 to 6 p.m., Thursdays. A music workshop for elementary teachers with little or no music background will be held on Tuesdays from 4 to 6 at Coleman School in San Rafael.

Other extension courses are for elementary school French teachers at Wade Thomas School, San Anselmo, from 4 to 7 p.m. Thursdays, and for Spanish teachers at Rancho School in Novato on Thursdays from 7 to 9:45 p.m. and at Lu Sutton School in Novato on Tuesdays from 4 to 5 p.m.

Registration will be taken during the first and second meetings of the classes.

Jewish Music Concert Set

A concert of vocal and instrumental, secular and religious Jewish music will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at Temple Rodef Sholom, 170 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

David Schneider, violinist with the San Francisco Symphony and opera orchestras, will be soloist. Rabbi Morton Hoffman will sing Israeli and Yiddish folk songs, as well as a traditional cantorial chant. Rodef Sholom music director Elsie Goldman and organist Doris Goldberg also will participate.

There will be an admission charge, to benefit the temple.

Many Youths Placed In Jobs

A lack of job openings for Marin County youth last year prevented a record number of job placements through the Marin County Youth Employment Committee.

Of the 2,793 students registering for work last year, 2,365 were placed in jobs. In 1963, 2,780 registered for jobs and 2,668 were employed, according to Edwin W. Ayer, manager of the San Rafael office of the state employment service, 805 E Street.

There were 1,106 high school and 1,259 college students placed in jobs last year. One less college placement and 304 more high school placements were made in 1963, Ayer reported.

Man Is Charged With Hit-Run

Ronald E. Phillips, 29, of San Francisco, was charged with hit-run driving yesterday after the driver of the car he allegedly struck followed him and called the California Highway Patrol.

Eric G. Waldbillig, 24, of 20 Inman Avenue, Kentfield, told highway patrolmen he was driving north on Highway 101 near San Rafael's Irwin Street off-ramp when a car struck the rear of his car at 6 p.m.

The car then passed Waldbillig, went over the Terra Linda overpass and its driver parked. Waldbillig called highway patrolmen and Phillips was charged with hit and run driving, failure to stop and give information following an accident and driving with an expired license.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Mill Valley Italian Dinery Proves To Be Popular Place

Mill Valley will have nine restaurants listed in the Marin Dining and Wining Guide when it comes out next Thursday. Five of these are downtown; the rest are on the highways and up the mountain.

One of the close-in places is a new listing and only about seven months old—La Ginestra, at 127 Throckmorton Avenue.

This used to be Eposti's before it was sold last summer to Salvatore Aversa from San Francisco. He has put in new furnishings and equipment and installed his own order of cuisine.

The result is something quite amazing for a comparatively new restaurant. Apparently it has become one of the favorite places to eat in Mill Valley.

Salvatore is still a young man, originally from Sorrento, Italy. He has the pleasing vestiges of an accent and a determined mind to keep his food as authentically Italian as possible. He keeps the restaurant open seven days a week from 11 in the morning to 11 at night (Sundays from 2 p.m.) and is there most of the time. For downtown Mill Valley, a closing time of 11 p.m. is indicative of its popularity.

THE NAME "La Ginestra" refers to a plant with a yellow bloom which grows in great profusion around Sorrento, and Salvatore says Italian poets write about it. But apparently it is also found on the slopes of Mount Tamalpais. We call it "Scotch broom."

Salvatore's menu is a lengthy list of such dishes as minestrone, stracciatella, ravioli, spaghetti, rigatoni, linguini, tortellini, mostaccioli, tagliarini, fettuccine, cannelloni—many of them with several variations. Then, of course, veal—scallopini, parmigiana, Milanese, and a delightful saltinbocca with risotto. It's a place, too, where you can get baked lasagne (a house specialty) and often fried or sauteed Calameri squid. There are a dozen pizzas in three sizes.

Italian and California wines—I especially like the Folonari Bardolino. Domestic and imported beers.

Much of Salvatore's time is spent in the kitchen helping his chef keep abreast of the orders, but he also likes to get acquainted with his customers. Usually officiating at the tables is a very agreeable young Italian with a story-book name—Johnny Lococo—who adds another touch of authenticity to the place with his own accent.

Friday and Saturday nights you'll probably have to wait for a table. La Ginestra patrons come from all over for these fine Italian dishes.

ADOLPH MOTTA'S purchase of West End Villa in San Rafael has been approved by the probate court, and plans are now in progress to remodel the old place for a new lease on pleasant dining. Said he when contacted at his San Francisco restaurant: "I never knew I had so many friends in Marin County until the news broke that I will be opening there."

That opening may still be delayed for awhile, and no name has been decided upon. But it's just possible "West End Villa" may remain as a part of it, thereby perpetuating this old San Rafael landmark in memories.

AS EXPECTED, Hi-Ho Restaurant, 707 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley, is celebrating its grand opening tonight and tomorrow. The line of command here may be a little confusing. Chuck Mowers, of course, owns all the property and he also operates the bar and motel. Frank Campos is his bar manager. Norman Kramer and Ron Holgate lease and operate the restaurant which is open from 7 a.m. daily for breakfast, lunch and dinner. Steaks, seafoods, salads and hamburgers are mainstays on the dinner fare.

AND SPEAKING of grand openings, one of the most successful I've run across, was this week's affair at the Great Wall Restaurant on Jacoby Street. Frankie Ling and Hung Huey gave up trying to keep a count on the abacus, it fell so far behind. But maybe we'll have some kind of a tally on the customers next week.

DANCING AT ONDINE? It can't be—not in Sausalito, anyway. But there's a place by that name in New York—a discotheque that's a little disturbing to Messrs. Gutekunst, Martinez and Roblin even at this distance.

Marin Dining And Wining

Ondine, it seems, has a nationwide reputation and they don't want it sullied by any connotations that aren't strictly in the top dinery classification.

NOW ON THE WINE LIST at Peacock Gap Country Club are the vintages of the Souverain Cellars in St. Helena. Many of the grapes that went into them came from the vineyards of the father of president Jerome C. Draper of the Draper Companies.

Bill Rude, manager of Peacock Gap's beach and yacht club, notes that improvements to the club harbor have been completed. There's a new breakwater and 20 feet depth in the water at low tide.

BIGGEST TOUTER in Marin County for the Peacock Gap rugby team is literally Frank Galli. If you don't believe it, visit Galli's Restaurant in Ignacio and witness Frank wearing one of the team's jerseys (No. 31) while tending bar. It was given to him with the compliments of the ruggers. With his 300 pounds, he might be an asset to the team, at that.

MR. K (Al Kurtz), San Rafael has removed one section of the counter at this Fourth Street restaurant and has replaced it with more booths, giving additional table service. This place is noted for its Sunday breakfasts and hot roast beef sandwiches.

LUNCH FAVORITES at Sabella's of Marin these days is the Scandinavia—an open-face sandwich that seems to be just right for the kind of weather we've been having. It's made with dark rye bread, hard boiled eggs, thinly sliced smoked salmon—accompanied by sliced tomatoes and potato salad—this to be accompanied by a glass of Sabella's draught beer.

BACK IN SERVICE is Pat and Joe's Restaurant at 71 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley. Co-owners Pat Trujillo and Joe Evonek, who also operate the Do-Nut Kettle, have completely repaired and remodeled after the fire of a couple of weeks ago.

DID I MENTION that King Cotton is open again? After all the painting and redecorating inside and out? the schedule is now 24 hours a day service—with breakfast, if you want it, at any hour. Home-made rolls and pies, merchants lunch daily except Sunday and veal scallopini on the dinner every evening.

There's still a little more work to be done on the outside, but its appearance is quite respectable, I assure you. Jim Jackson and his manager Helen Tibbets do their best to keep it that way.

THE LOCAL BOY WHO MADE GOOD—Steve Barkhurst of San Rafael, but known on the Playboy circuit as Steve Logan—is in town for a couple of weeks and is performing at Di Pietro's in San Rafael. He's a comic pianist and the action everywhere stops when he goes into his routine.

ALENA AND VLADIMIR NEVL are back from their month-long vacation in New Mexico, and Drake's Arms, Inverness is open again for business.

Future Farmer Event Draws 38 Spectators

Thirty-eight persons attended a program presented by the Marin County Agricultural Extension Service office and the Tomales Future Farmers of America chapter Monday at the Tomales Farm Bureau Center.

Members of Tomales High School's parliamentary procedure team gave a demonstration. Wayne Parks of Tomales spoke on the bracero program.

Retired Water Worker Honored

Joseph Mazzini, who worked 44 years in the service department of Marin Municipal Water District, was honored recently by fellow employees at a retirement dinner.

Mazzini of 62 Hillcrest Drive, San Rafael, retired officially at the end of December.

Fellow employees, including several who have already retired, attended the dinner. William R. Seeger, general manager and chief engineer for the district, gave Mazzini a gold watch and scroll.

Among Dancers

Among leading dancers of the Bay Area to be featured in the first San Francisco presentation of Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" at 8:30 p.m. today and 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in Grace Cathedral, San Francisco, is Oeloel Quitzow Braun of 121 Gloria Drive, San Rafael.

Hamburger and CHAMPAGNE?

Well, not for *every*body.

You have to be 21 and come over to Sam's in Tiburon to get it.

And, if you find fulfillment in the works of Edgar Guest, Paul Harvey, Daddy Warbucks, Jane Addams, Norman Rockwell, and Henry Doelger... you might prefer to stick with Sam's tried and true Burger & Beer.

But if a spark of the bon vivant burns in your soul, your taste will be abundantly rewarded with this bizarre combination.

Sam's Anchor Cafe has even bottled its own champagne for the occasion.

That would be Sam's in Tiburon.

TRUSTEES SHUN 'GIFT' COMPUTER

College Of Marin Commercial Aide Seeks All-Schools Data Processing

Trustees of Marin Junior College District proved loath last night to accept the "gift" of a data processing center.

Weaver Meadows, chairman of the College of Marin commercial department, led a battery of advocates of the college's taking over data processing for all school districts in Marin County —at the same time expanding its instruction in computer operation.

Donald Griffin, who teaches the computer courses, said the "1620" computer the college now has is of limited value beyond the classroom, while a "1440" (brother to the county's "George") would make it possible for him to give students training on the same machine they would be using in industry.

Meadows disclosed the proposal to locate the big computer at the college was the outcome of a search by a county schools committee for a more satisfactory data processing headquarters for school districts. There has been considerable complaint over the service by the county data processing center—and its cost—by school officials.

Robert Stannard of the county schools office said "the school districts would contract with us; we would guarantee the support to the program for the college."

The county schools office would use the machine at night; the college would have it for daytime classes—at no cost, said Meadows.

Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy thought there might be considerable cost in providing a building. Meadows and Griffin insisted the big computer would need no different environment than the "1620."

Mrs. Deedy and trustee Kent O. Seymour pointed out that there is no firm assurance some of the larger districts—particularly Tamalpais High School District, won't set up their own data processing centers.

Mrs. Deedy, shuffling the many pages of a glowing report on the proposal which was given trustees at the start of their meeting, declared:

"I'm very frank to say I'm annoyed the way this has come."

She noted there was no recommendation from the college president, the curriculum committee or the dean of instruction, no report from the architects who are master-planning the college's expansion, yet immediate action was wanted to put the center in operation by next July 1.

As Meadows attempted to speak again to answer these objections, chairman Robert E. Oliver ruled there would be no action last night.

Novatan Injured In Auto Mishap

Merlyn C. Weindel, 46, of Novato, suffered head and internal injuries yesterday when he was thrown from his car in an accident on Highway 101 a mile north of Highway 37.

Weindel was driving north at 11:15 p.m. when his car went onto a divider strip, smashing a road direction sign and totally wrecking the car.

Weindel was reported in fair condition today at Novato General Hospital with unspecified head and internal injuries.

Pupil Transition Will Be Discussed

Transition of pupils from junior to senior high school will be discussed by members of the Terra Linda High School guidance staff at a public meeting at the school gymnasium Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The program will be of special interest to parents of children in eighth grade classes who will be attending Terra Linda High School next fall, said Barbara Hickel, director of guidance.

Big Registration Foulup Voiced At Marin College

A familiar complaint was voiced at last night's meeting of Marin Junior College District trustees: foulups in registration.

This comes up at the start of each semester. What annoyed trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy was that things don't seem to get much better.

"My phone has gone for two days on complaints about the registration procedure," said Mrs. Deedy.

Callers, she said, complained that (1) when they phoned the college to get registration information, they were given information which later proved false; (2) they were told no mail registration was permitted, then found the class had been filled with mail registrations; (3) they were told they could not be put on waiting list for classes; (4) one was told there would be "plenty of room" in a class, then on arriving to register found it had been filled before the end of the fall semester.

President Stephen E. Epler and Dean of Students Irwin M. Diamond both agreed "something would have to be done."

Little Girl's Tongue Gets Stuck In Bottle

A 4-year-old girl's curiosity got her into trouble and little Julie Ann Lanni got her tongue stuck in an aspirin bottle at 4:50 p.m. yesterday, while playing at home, 105 Terrace Avenue, San Rafael.

Her mother summoned firemen, who recommended a trip to the hospital. San Rafael police took mother, daughter and still-attached bottle to Marin General Hospital, where the tongue was freed without complications.

Concert-Lecture Series To Expand

An expanded College of Marin concert-lecture series, with higher priced attractions, won enthusiastic approval of Marin Junior College District trustees last night.

The trustees, with Robert E. Rogers absent, gave Roy Mikalson, head of the concert-lecture series committee, the go-ahead to line up a $15,000 program for next year that will include full symphony orchestras and big-name speakers.

They also told Mikalson to do the programming without asking the board each time whether a certain feature may be booked.

The expansion (with a budget nearly double this year's $8,000) was granted on the assumption that completion of the new college gymnasium will enable the events to draw much larger crowds than Olney Hall can accommodate—although Mikalson admitted there has been only one overflow crowd for this year's series.

Next year's attractions are to include some for which admission will be charged. Among these will be the San Francisco Symphony and perhaps the Oakland Symphony and San Francisco Ballet.

Mrs. Walter Baer, president of the Marin Symphony, asked that it be included, too.

The Marin Junior College District Board Also:

1. Saw two types of seating proposed for the auditorium, exhibited by representatives of B. and G. Holsinger, Inc. of Burlingame. Informed that snap-up writing rests were planned for only 20 per cent, trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy objected they should be included on more for large lectures. College president Stephen E. Epler said "there's no reason we can't have them on all 600 seats."

2. Approved remodeling of home economics room and room for college nursing classes.

3. Authorized an architectural study of the feasibility of remodeling the cafeteria for classrooms. Trustees Kent O. Seymour and Joseph D. Gargiulo expressed doubt the building would meet Field Act (earthquake-resistant) requirements.

4. Granted free use of Olney Hall on March 13 by the American Field Service committee of Sir Francis Drake High School for showing of films.

5. Received two conflicting reports on registration. One, a "first period attendance comparison," indicated a total of 2,567 regular students in the junior college program. The other, a registration progress report, showed only 1,863. Yet totals of all students taking credit courses —including adults — nearly matched, being 3,329 on one report and 3,327 on the other.

6. Learned that title has been received to a second parcel of the Pacheco Ranch property for a North Marin campus, bringing the district's holding there to 114 acres.

7. Approved a report on the proposed registered nursing classes by Shirley Conklin, and learned from her that "Mr. Turner (administrator William W. Turner) of Marin General Hospital is giving us on permanent loan six hospital beds."

8. Adopted a resolution applying the bonus rule to administrative as well as teaching personnel, retroactive to last July 1. This provides a $500 bonus for receiving a master's degree and $1,000 bonus for a doctor's degree.

9. Accepted resignations of Mrs. Mary Fedde, home economic instructor, and William D. Wilkinson, history instructor, effective June 30, and Mrs. Marianne Palmer, secretary to the dean of students, effective Feb. 12.

10. Approved sabbatical leaves next year for Edwin L. Braun and Charles D. Mastin.

11. Adopted a resolution urging that no state board for junior colleges be created pending completion of a Carnegie Foundation-financed study.

Veterans' Property Tax Issue May Be Revived

Some of Marin's veterans' organizations are expressing alarm over a reported move to abolish the California veterans home tax exemption law.

Literature is being circulated in Marin with this warning:

"Your department commander has been informed by usually reliable sources that the speaker of the House, Mr. Jesse Unruh, will sponsor a bill to do away with all veterans tax exemptions on their homes."

We are not certain if and when such a bill will be introduced.

However, there is some indication that Speaker Unruh is personally in favor of abolishing the veterans' tax exemption.

For any politician, who must keep an alert ear cocked to public reaction, to come out publicly for abolition of the veterans' tax exemption would take considerable courage and conviction.

Any politician can sense the strong opposition that will be forthcoming from various veterans' organizations and from the individual California veterans who have benefited thus far from the tax exemption law.

As we said before, we do not know whether such legislation will be proposed this year.

If it is, a loud public outcry will come from the officials of veterans' organizations, whose duty it is to protect the interests of veterans in every possible way. This is only a natural reaction and is to be expected.

At the same time, we have a hunch that other California citizens, even some veterans included, may privately laud the proposal as having some merit and not something to be shunned like the Plague and its proponents to be ostracized for having dared to breathe such a possibility.

In these times of heavy taxation, when every loss of revenue means an added burden to the taxpayer, we believe the exemptions now granted to able-bodied veterans is one of the fields that can be explored.

Veterans who have been handicapped by disability should certainly be given special consideration. But the exemptions granted to able-bodied veterans should not be considered so sacrosanct that it cannot stand the glare of public discussion and review.

Should veterans continue to get this "subsidy" in perpetuity? Is it fair, in view of the fact that veterans who do not own property cannot get the same benefits?

If the abolition of the veterans' tax exemption is brought up, we believe the proposal deserves serious consideration and calm discussion, not just hoots of derision.

President Facing Problem: Tourist Tax Or Troop Cut?

WASHINGTON—There is one form of deficit spending that is giving the Johnson administration the gravest anxiety. This is the deficit in the U. S. balance of payments abroad.

It is taking an alarming turn for the worse. We are continuing to spend more abroad than we are earning abroad. This puts a perilous strain on dwindling gold reserves.

THE PRESIDENT is weighing some pretty daring measures to bring our foreign spending more nearly into balance with our foreign earnings.

The trouble is that all of the relatively painless steps have been exhausted. Only the most controversial remain.

Like putting a $100 tax on every American whenever he travels abroad.

OR RECALLING one or two U. S. divisions stationed in Western Europe.

You can imagine the storm that would blow up at home if such a tax became law.

You can imagine the storm that would blow up abroad if we cut back U. S. troops.

THE NEED TO take measures equal to bringing the balance of payments deficit under control is now so evident that it can no longer be denied. Action cannot safely be delayed.

It is evident that President Johnson himself has come to this conclusion reluctantly. Only two weeks ago he said he did not plan to ask Congress for new legislation. But now he does.

The president's recent economic report to Congress contributed to some false optimism. It titled its section dealing with the imbalance of payments with the capitalized words "Approaching External Balance." This phrase is technically accurate and acutely misleading.

IT IS TRUE that for most of 1964 the balance of payments was running at little more than half of the 3.9-billion-dollar deficit of 1960.

But all calculations went awry in the fourth quarter when the deficit for that period topped one billion dollars. This sum alone nearly equals the 1.5 billion dollars the U. S. lost in the three previous quarters combined.

The hope has been that the rise in U. S. exports would meet the balance of payments problem. But under the impact of sustained prosperity imports have also been climbing and the outlook is that the trade surplus will decline this year.

THIS MEANS that since we are not increasing our earnings abroad adequately, the U. S. will have to decrease its spending or accept a menacing payments deficit.

The administration, therefore, faces the need to take sterner measures.

One reason for delay is that there are substantial differences among the president's advisers as to what should be done: Cut private spending or cut government spending—or both? Or postpone the reckoning by taking palliative measures.

THE PURPOSE of putting a heavy tax on Americans who leave the country—about two million last year—is not to penalize travel per se, but to reduce tourist spending. Teachers, students and less affluent tourists would be hardest hit. The administration shrinks from the prospect, but it may have to be done.

Unless, of course, the president is prepared to overrule the State Department's earnest objection to cutting our troops in Western Europe.

Militarily, this is defensible. Politically, with NATO in disarray, it could be dangerous.

FLOOD DAMAGE EYEWITNESS

Northern California, Oregon Present Unbelievable Sights

By JEFF GREER

WE'VE JUST HAD an eyeful of flood damage.

On a quick round-trip to Portland, we saw the leavings of the Christmas week "thousand year storm" in the inland area of northern California from Corning north on Highway 99, over the Siskiyou to the Rogue River Valley, through the Umpqua Valley, along the Willamette River, and then to the Willamette Pass area.

Oregonians, still emotionally shaky and financially hard-pressed after the Christmas Week disaster, received another jolt late last week, when a brief but fierce storm threatened to do all over again the damage that scientists had predicted could happen only once in 10 centuries.

How to describe the sights?

Imagine, if you can, normally placid Novato Creek suddenly sweeping six feet deep across Highway 101. That's what insignificant little Bear Creek did between Ashland and Medford, Ore. Imagine, if you can, the Waldo Grade so watersoaked that a 100-yard stretch of it slumps downhill into Sausalito. That's what happened to all four lanes of Highway 99 near Shasta Lake.

Picture to yourself, Corte Madera Creek rising roof-top high through Ross, Kentfield and Larkspur, pounding buildings to soggy kindling, undermining bridge foundations, glutting parks and yards with dead vegetation and debris. That's what the Rogue and Umpqua and Willamette rivers did.

Even barbed-wire fences strung on steel posts were mangled and pushed down by the muddy waters. The wires acted like a sieve, collecting dead grass and branches until they resembled solid wattled walls, then bowed to the pressure of the currents.

THE BRUTE POWER of too much water, insensately looking for a place to go in obedience to gravity's dictatorship, impressed us most along the beautiful reaches of Salt Creek, east of Eugene and Oak Ridge, Ore.

Salt Creek is about 30 miles long; normally a few inches deep and a few yards wide. It's a lovely trout stream, and its main claim to fame is the rather spectacular Salt Creek Falls, which can be seen from State Highway 58 between Oak Ridge and Mount Odell. Salt Creek feeds into the Middle Fork of the Willamette just above the amazingly, brilliant green waters of Lookout Point and Dexter reservoirs.

Those emerald waters are a turgid red-brown, now.

Now, there are literally acres of cut lumber and storm-felled timber floating or beached in the reservoir below Salt Creek. Mingled with the trees—many of them four feet in diameter—are splintered remains of the few homes Salt Creek's frenzied waters were able to reach, when a week's rains suddenly melted several feet of snowpack.

And the highway—it couldn't have been in worse shape if a war had been fought along it.

Little tributary rills that normally ran under the road through one and two-foot drainpipes, gnawed away scores of yards of hard-built highway. Salt Creek, wherever it formerly curved caressingly against the pavement's flanks, swiped away the works of man like they were tissue paper. A concrete pylon, six feet to a side and a dozen feet high—supporting one leg of a railway bridge—was carried 18 miles downstream.

The highway was left littered with rocks larger than a man's head.

WE DROVE over a log bridge hastily thrown up alongside a concrete and steel span that looked like it had been gnawed away by diamond-toothed beavers. The creek changed its course there; the old bridge would have been left useless anyway.

Every half-mile or so, for 16 miles, we drove over bumpy, rutted gravel that had been rushed in to fill the gaps where Salt Creek simply obliterated all traces of the highway. Some of the gravel stretches—one-lane, five-miles-an-hour stuff—were an eighth of a mile long.

And a highway engineer standing at roadside, one ear cocked to the rocks still rattling against each other in the subsiding stream, shook his head sadly as we passed. He probably thought we were just some more of those Californians come to gawk at Oregon's misfortune.

In a way, we were. But, we feel distress for what they went through, and a touch of fear in wondering whether what happened to the Redwood Coast and to most of western Oregon might ever be inflicted on marvelous Marin.

THE THOUGHT makes us look a bit askance at the little jet spurting from the kitchen water tap. If water can do all the things we saw . . .

March Of Dimes Praise For Teens

Editor, Independent-Journal:

These days when our young people seem to be receiving so much adverse criticism, with the "bad" emphasized rather than the "good," we of the Marin Chapter of the National Foundation—March of Dimes, would like to praise this segment of our population. These enthusiastic "teen-agers," representing all of our Marin County High Schools, including Katherine Branson and Dominican, suggested, planned, obtained free of charge all refreshments, decorations, door prizes and tickets, as well as the generous services of the "Opposite Six" Dance Band and Station KEWB, with their top disc jockey, the "Real Don Steele"—for a Benefit Dance for the March of Dimes.

This affair was not only a financial success, clearing over $700 for this marvelous humanitarian organization, but—more important, we feel, is the fact that with nearly 400 young people enthusiastically active, there were no incidents. We cannot praise highly enough, Kathy Finn, the TAP (Teen-Age Program) Chairman and her excellent committee, who SO successfully have contributed generously to this great cause—the Birth Defects program of the National Foundation—March of Dimes, in a gentlemanly and ladylike manner.

We express our sincere gratitude to the "Opposite Six" (teen-agers themselves) and A. F. M. Local 6. We have never seen a dance band work so hard and untiringly. To ALL who contributed toward the success of this dance we say "thank you," with a special note of "thanks to Dr. B. Corona," whose efforts were responsible in obtaining the Wilkens American Legion Hall, for this worthy cause, also, a "big" thank you to the Chaperones, Board Members, and the excellent Police protection. We hope you ALL feel well repaid for your generosity, in the knowledge that you are helping those less fortunate than yourselves.

Property Tax Burden Great

Editor, Independent-Journal

Probably the most important part of Governor Brown's buget and tax proposals would seem to be what he has omitted. In his talk of bare minimum expenditures, fair taxes, and plugging loopholes, no mention is made of the greatest single inequity present in the tax burden here namely the inequality of the property tax burden. Although this is a "local tax," it is levied and administered under state law which at this time sees fit to continue to allow the parasitic land speculators and slum lords to escape anywhere from 75 to 90 per cent of their fair property tax burden while inevitably causing a proportionately great burden to fall upon the greatest majority of property tax payers, namely home owners and others engaged in business.

Recent independent surveys throughout the state have shown the amount of revenue lost annually through under assessment of unimproved or slum type property run as high as 800 million dollars, a sum far greater than the additional taxes that the governor claims we need to levy. Perhaps he and the other politicians realize it is easier to take an ever increasing share of the wage earner's dollar rather than attempt to fight the strong lobbying and pressure groups such as the land speculators and slum lords.

Wrong Turn Means $17 Fine

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As a public service would you please warn San Rafael drivers with this letter that for making a left turn on Third Street (where it is posted) between 4 and 6 p.m. the police department does not hesitate to collect a fine of $17. I paid that fine recently.

As an afterthought, may I express the opinion that the S. R. P. D. appears not only to be punishing the guilty but can be assumed to be a rather prosperous agency and this at the exorbitant expense of the public.

HANS W. SOMMER
Corte Madera

(Editor's note: The fines for traffic offenses are not set by the police department but by the courts. Investigation disclosed that judges of Marin Municipal Court agreed in December on a new scale of fines, which makes the fine for an illegal left turn $17. This was done without public announcement by the judges.)

Article Not Outstanding

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I read in your magazine section of Jan. 30, 1965, quite a eulogy of Mr. Wilson, one of our judges of the Municipal Courts of San Rafael or better of Marin County.

I do not see anything in the entire write-up that this Mr. Wilson has done something outstanding. Yes he was re-elected because there was no opposition, that merely shows that no one was interested in his job.

A good attorney does not have to be a tax-eater to make a very comfortable living. The study of law in the various schools is predominant because of the fact that it is not so hard to earn a good living.

Why don't you eulogize persons who have done something for humanity, something good and everlasting?

I take it that the Independent-Journal is not the self-appointed guardian of Mr. Wilson.

Soviet Nuclear Test Mystery Thickens

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Alarming new information gathered by the joint Air Force - Atomic Energy Commission airborne detection team has cast a mysterious cloud over Russia's "underground" nuclear test.

The explosion, which the Soviet claims "vented" the earth's surface, spewed twice as much radioactive debris into the atmosphere as did Red China's first above-the-ground nuclear test.

THIS JOLTING Air Force-AEC discovery was revealed by Central Intelligence Director John McCone during his private briefing of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee on the Soviet-Chinese tests.

McCone, head of the Atomic Energy Commision during the Eisenhower administration, told the legislators the startling new data resulted from a comparison of air samplings taken over Japan following the detection of the separate Communist nuclear explosions.

Although the Air Force-AEC finding is not conclusive proof that the Jan. 15 Soviet test was conducted in the atmosphere, McCone testified, it does raise grave questions on whether the nuclear explosion was set off underground as the Russians contend.

McCone estimated the blast yield of the Soviet test at one megaton — comparable to a million tons of TNT.

HE STRESSED that if the explosion was detonated underground, as claimed by the Russians, it was the largest ever attempted below the earth's surface. No U. S. underground nuclear test has approached that size.

In comparing the two Communist tests, McCone reported that China's first explosion had a blast yield of less than 50 kilotons (50,000 tons of TNT), but appeared to be an advanced nuclear device.

Under intense questioning by committee members, the CIA director admitted the U. S. has no information other than that furnished by the Russians to support the general AEC and State Department belief that the test was conducted underground and accidentally vented.

THE LIMITED nuclear test ban treaty signed by both the U. S. and the Soviet forbids experimental atomic blasts in the atmosphere, space, under water; and also underground explosions that spread radioactive debris beyond the testing state's borders.

According to McCone, the Soviet explosion occurred in the Semipalitinsk area of southern Russia. The U. S. has recorded "seismic events" in the region from time to time, he said, but the government has no way of determining whether the incidents are underground tests or earthquakes.

In a frank discussion of the Soviet's growing nuclear arsenal, McCone stated the Russians are going all out to catch up with our lead in small-yield nuclear weapons.

WHEN PRESSED about their progress in big devices, he admitted the Russians had developed and detonated nuclear weapons of far higher yield than the U. S. had prior to the treaty banning atmospheric tests.

'Portuguese Leprechaun' Perry Becomes Legend In Own Time

IF ALL THE STORIES about Matts Perry were lined up end to end, the words would reach from Sausalito to Point Reyes—or maybe Alaska.

Rough on the outside, big-hearted on the inside, Chief Perry retires this month after 40 years service as a fireman.

In olden days the firehouse and the jail sat over a pier near the present Ondine Restaurant. Alongside was a pier where people came from San Francisco to fish. Matts, the story goes, was able to get underneath the firehouse without fishermen knowing it and, when everybody had lines hanging into the water, he would grab them and give a jerk. Then Matts would let go and up the line would come—empty.

MATTS, ACCORDING to Frank Pasquinucci, was catcher for the Sausalito Merchants in the 1920s.

"I played right field with the Sausalito Bears," said Pasquinucci. Fritz Perry, Matts's brother, played third base on my team. About the sixth or seventh inning they were leading 7 to 5 and Bob McAdams was on second base. I came up and walked behind Matts and said, 'No curves. Get a fast one in there.' I knew he would do the opposite.

"The first thing he did was throw a curve. I hit it and boy did I go. Coming to third, his brother waved me on and I was thrown out at home plate. If I made it, it would have tied the score."

MATTS LIKES TO PLAY the horses, likes to hunt and, whenever he gets together with Frank Keaton, there are shennanigans.

Keaton tells the story of going to Indiana with Perry in 1947 to drive back a new city ambulance. En route home, they drove through snow and rain but Matts always insisted on a motel with a garage for the ambulance.

One night in Iowa the garage was too small and Matts had the man tie the doors open and put a tent over the top to protect the end of the vehicle. "That night," said Keaton, Matts, who liked the windows open, walked into the bathroom and found himself in a foot of snow.

FIREMAN SWEDE PEDERSEN tells the tale of how guys at the old ferry house station, when pickling herring during the herring run, would approach the time when the crock of herring was pickled. Matts would never eat any herring, said Swede. He would look at the other men, a twinkle in his eye, knowing that he had added a little bit to the mixture that wasn't all pickles.

"Matts Perry belongs to us. We love him," says Sally Clapp Stapp. She said that when the question came as to where to hold his testimonial dinner Feb. 24, an up-county hall was suggested. This was ruled out because Sausalitans want to keep Perry at home. The dinner will be at the Alta Mira Hotel which owner William Wachter is closing one night in honor of Matts.

BARRISTER JOHN EHLEN calls Matts a "Portuguese leprechaun." "You can see him almost anywhere sitting on a mushroom making some sardonic remark about this or that but always speaking blunt or brutal language," said Ehlen.

An angry friend at New Year's Eve was Rico Blacow, owner of Rico's, who was taking New Year's Eve reservations when Matts came in and playfully cut the telephone cord. "He has an awful lot of friends," said Rico, and it is hard to screen them for a party to get them to fit into the restaurant.

Matts likes to hunt deer and one time, according to Pedersen, went hunting with a pointer. He had never taken this type of dog with him before. He gave the dog some meat, said Swede, and later the dog stiffened right out and pointed. "Matts was hysterical. He thought he had poisoned the dog."

"The chief is full of business at council and other business meetings," continued Swede. "But he can stand just so much baloney and then he gets impatient and says, 'Oh, the hell with it. I'm going home.'"

And he does.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Here Is A Look At Two Memos –Written Just Four Years Apart

FUSSELMAN

LAST FRIDAY I SAID, "There will be a discussion of the ordinance which appears, on the face of it, to give the County Administrator life and death control over all department heads—elected and appointed." HOWEVER, in looking over my material, it appears that it would be well to first present the following two communications for your information.

THE FIRST was sent to me just before I became chairman, in 1961. THE SECOND was written and sent out just four years later. BY READING THEM, it should be somewhat obvious why I say, "There is great danger in this proposition of 'a most powerful figure in county government.'"

(Document One)

"STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES OF OFFICE OF THE COUNTY ADMINISTRATOR, by Alan Bruce, Assistant Administrator, November 14, 1960:

1. I am a firm believer in our democratic form of government and therefore in the complete responsibility and authority of the elected representatives of the people. The members of the Board of Supervisors are the policy-makers and the decision-makers. It is for them to assess the political consequences of governmental action; It is for them to determine what the people are ready to accept.

2. I conceive the main job of the County Administrator to be to bring information to the Board of Supervisors — complete information, with all the considerations and all ramifications.

3. I also consider an essential part of the job to be the making of recommendations to the Board of Supervisors. The Administrator's recommendations should be based primarily on administrative feasibility, i.e., on what he thinks would work effectively to give maximum value to the taxpayer. At the same time he should expect the members of the Board of Supervisors to be in a better position than he to take a broad view of the needs of the community as a whole, and therefore to make final decisions which often would differ from his recommendations. His success should not be measured by the degree to which his recommendations are accepted. In fact, if all his recommendations were uniformly and routinely accepted, he should worry either that he was usurping the functions of the Board, or that the Board was falling down on its job.

4. Nevertheless a County Administrator should not make recommendations intentionally which obviously have no chance of acceptance. He should have some political sense and some sense of timing, while realizing that the sense of the Board members is always better than his.

5. Once a matter has been thoroughly considered and a definite policy has been established by the Board of Supervisors, the Administrator should refrain from pressing for a change in policy.

6. The Administrator should attempt to conduct his office in such a way that it does not become an issue in election campaigns. While members of the Board of Supervisors may disagree among themselves and properly so, the function of the Administrator should be to carry out the will of the majority of the Board, at the same time respecting minority opinion.

7. A good County Administrator should be able to serve any Board of Supervisors and to help that Board achieve its purposes, no matter how different those purposes may be from those of a previous Board.

8. A good County Administrator should be careful to see that accomplishments of County government are always credited to the Board of Supervisors or to the department heads responsible, but should be willing personally to accept a share of the blame for any failures.

9. The usefulness of an Administrator is over, and his job tenure should end, at any time when it becomes clear that a majority of the Board has lost confidence in his basic ability and integrity."

To: All Department Heads

From: Alan Bruce, County Administrator

Re: Department Heads' Meeting

As indicated in my memo of November 30th, I think it would be a good idea to commence a series of meetings of all Department Heads. — — — The meetings will be for Department Heads only — no assistants or other employees, no press, no members of the Board of Supervisors.

The first meeting is scheduled as follows:

8:00 A.M.
Thursday, Dec. 17, 1964
Room 336, Civic Center

The meeting will convene promptly at 8:00 and will adjourn no later than 9:30. Please confirm your attendance by calling my secretary on extension 318.

I WILL DISCUSS the ordinance next Friday.

Planners Agree Sausalito Needs New Police Office

Sausalito planning commissioners Wednesday recommended city council approval in principle of acquiring a temporary building to house the police department, saying the present office is "grossly inadequate." The vote was unanimous.

However, commissioners are not in accord with City Mgr. Charles A. Brown that the structure should be placed on Parking Lot No. 3 on Anchor Street. The station should be placed elsewhere, particularly in view of present planning for the central waterfront, said Robert L. Nissen, chairman. Discussion lasted two hours.

Kenneth Robin, North Bay Division sales superintendent of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., showed slides on underground utilities.

Annual Inspection For Naval Reserve

Annual inspection of San Rafael's Naval Reserve unit will be held at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 16 at the Naval Reserve surface division, 153 Madison Avenue, Santa Venetia.

Conducting the public inspection, according to Lt. Cmdr. Richard Johnston, commanding officer, will be Cmdr. M. S. Van Kueren of San Rafael and Capt. R. A. Allan, director of training.

'Shaking Up Issues' Will Be Demo Topic

"Shaking Up the Issues" will be discussed in a panel by Mill Valley Democratic Club members at 8 p.m. Tuesday in American Legion Hall, 467 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Automation and jobs, Latin American policy, social welfare and taxation will be considered, the same subjects to be discussed at the California Democratic Council of Clubs' convention in Sacramento Mar. 19-21. Panelists will be Roy Pyle, Mrs. John McRee, Dian Brockmiller and Mrs. Donald J. Taylor. Election of officers will precede the program.

Hopes Rising That Spring Will Bring Jobless Drop

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Hopes are rising today that spring will bring a drop in unemployment, one of the knottiest problems the nation faces. The hopes are strengthened by what didn't happen in January — joblessness didn't rise as much as it usually does when the extra help hired for the Christmas rush are let off.

This lets the government adjust seasonally its estimates of employment and unemployment and their total, the labor force. The January percentage of the labor force unemployed thus is adjusted seasonally to the lowest figure since late in 1957 when it was 4.7 per cent of that period's much smaller labor force.

If January wasn't as bad as it usually is, the arrival of spring with its expanded outdoor job opportunities could bring the jobless rate even lower, despite all the forces working against the solution of this seven-year problem.

In that period the jobless rate has risen as high as 7.5 per cent and rarely, and only temporarily, has dropped below 5 per cent of the labor force. The force is expected to grow even faster in the years just ahead.

The jobless rate is closely watched as one of the key indicators of the health, and direction, of the economy. In his economic message to Congress, President Johnson noted:

"Some 3.7 million of our citizens want work but are unable to find it. Up to a million more—'the hidden unemployed'—would enter the labor force if the unemployment rate could be brought down just one percentage point.

"In the next year, 1.3 million more potential workers will be added to our labor force, including a net increase of one half million below the age of 20."

The government statistics on employment are compiled from a monthly survey of a sample of households. Counted as unemployed are those who at the middle of January weren't working but were looking for work. This includes those who may be waiting to return to a job from which they have been laid off and those expecting to take a new job within 30 days.

From the sampling, the government estimates how many in the nation are officially unemployed, and how many report they have jobs. The total is the labor force — those working or looking for work. It doesn't include those who may not be seeking jobs because they think it useless.

And the statistics can be scrambled later by the uncounted numbers who may enter the labor force once general prosperity increases opportunities or raises the pay or makes the hours more acceptable.

Net sales for the period exceeded $405 million, an increase of 29 per cent over the 314 million recorded in the comparable period last year.

Definite Loss For Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a definite loss today.

Kennecott slipped more than 2, Schering and General Motors more than a point each.

IBM was off more than 4, Xerox about 2.

U.S. Smelting held a gain of about 5. U.S. Steel eased.

Eastern Air Lines was strong, rising more than 2.

Profit taking on the sustained rise to new highs was a feature of the decline.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.9 million shares compared with 6.23 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point prevailed among key stocks but the ratio of losers to gainers was increasing as the session wore on.

With the Dow Jones industrial average down close to the 900 level again, Kennecott dropped more than a point while fractional losses were taken by such issues as Jersey Standard, Union Carbide, General Motors, U.S. Steel and Sears, Roebuck. International Harvester slumped more than a point.

IBM lost almost 5 and Xerox 2. U.S. Smelting held a gain exceeding 3.

Chrysler looked like the most active stock and eased amid talk of expected new financing.

Further fuel was given the gold-mining issues by wider publication of French President Charles de Gaulle's proposals for a gold-based monetary system and by the U.S. loss of $100 million in gold holdings. Homestake was up about 2.

Prices were mixed in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Larger Bottles Sold

NEW YORK (UPI) — The large economy size is gaining in the liquor market, reports Modern Packaging magazine. Although half-gallon bottles are legal in only 32 states and Washington, D.C., their consumption—especially in the domestic whisky blend field—has jumped from over 3 million bottles in 1959 to over 10 million in the tax year ended June, 1964.

INCOME TAX FACTS

You Can Deduct For Child Care

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, C.P.A.

On your California and Federal returns you can deduct up to $600 for the care of your child, or $900 for two or more children, to enable you to work, if you qualify.

Wikel

This can be deducted only if it is for the care of your child or stepchild under 13 years of age; or or the care of any other dependent for whom you are entitled to an exemption who is mentally or physically incapable of caring for himself.

The expense must be paid and it cannot be paid to an individual for whom you claim a dependency exemption.

You can only make this deduction provided the cost is for you to earn a living or to enable you to look for work.

If you work only part of the day and pay for child care for all the day, you can deduct only the part that corresponds to the time you were working.

If the person who receives the payment does work other than child care, such as house cleaning, the deduction is allowed only for that part that is child care.

The deduction is allowed to women and to widowers. Widowers include men who are divorced or legally separated and have not remarried. It is also allowed to husbands of incapacitated or institutionalized wives who can deduct child care expenses incurred while the wife is disabled. This deduction is allowed only if the wife is mentally or physically incapacitated or institutionalized for a period of 90 consecutive days unless the period is terminated by her death.

A married man or woman can deduct their child care expense only if they file a joint return and together earn less than $6,000 per year. If they earn over $6,000 per year, the deduction is reduced by the amount earned over the $6,000. This does not apply if the taxpayer's husband or wife is incapable of self-support because he or she is mentally or physically defective.

De Gaulle's Gold Plan Debunked

WASHINGTON (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle's call for a return to the gold standard for international settlements is getting a frigid reception in Washington and in the American banking community.

"A step backward" was a Treasury official's description of the Frenchman's suggestion. It would be a retreat to 1931, when the world's economic system collapsed, the Treasury said in a statement.

Even before De Gaulle spoke at a Paris news conference yesterday, American monetary officials and many bank executives had gone on record against his proposal.

Some feel that its adoption would lead to raising the price of gold from the present $35 an ounce, returning to a strict gold standard or dropping all gold backing for American currency. And they don't think much of any of these steps.

Income Reported

EL DORADO, Ark. — Murphy Oil Corp. 1964 consolidated net income is $4.2 million, based on preliminary figures. Earnings were equivalent to $1.02 per share of common stock after giving account to preferred dividends.

Novato Teener Second Eagle Scout In Family

Chris Call, 13, eighth grade student at San Jose Intermediate School, was made an Eagle Scout in ceremonies last week at Hamilton Air Force Base.

After earning more than 20 merit badges, Chris won his award in "citizenship in the community" by writing a history of the city of Novato, complete with a map showing landmarks.

Chris is the second boy in his family to receive the rank of Eagle Scout. His brother Stephen, 15, won it last year when he was 14.

Watching their second son receive the rank were his parents, Col. (USAF ret.) and Mrs. Melvin G. Call of 465 Via Herbosa, Novato.

DALLAS (UPI)—The XC-142A, an ungainly vehicle that flies like a plane but takes off, lands and hovers like a helicopter, made its first public flight yesterday. Two models of the $100 million hybrid with tilt wings, were shown off to aviation and military officials at the Dallas Naval Air Station.

Hub Chamber Is Against Stanford Study

San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday took a stand against spending more money on the Stanford Research Institute study of Marin County industrial development.

Chamber directors adopted a report from a committee headed by Edward Nordman, containing three recommendations to the county board of supervisors:

1. Do not allocate the $10,000 proposed for Phase Two of the Stanford survey.

2. If necessary, allocate funds for an industrial survey to the Marin County Development Assn.

3. In any event, have the development association make recommendations to the supervisors on how to attract industry to Marin.

'Milwaukee Scheming To Financially Ruin Braves'

ATLANTA (AP) — Chairman Arthur Montgomery of the Atlanta Stadium Authority charges that Milwaukee County leaders are "employing a strategy designed to break the Braves financially" in order to force the club's sale.

Montgomery, who said last night he was irked by stories printed earlier in the Milwaukee Sentinel, charged that the plan involves "lawsuits . . . boycotts and general haassment. It is the feeling here that they will be stupid to antagonize further," he added.

"Whatever they may think, the Braves' ownership is solid," Montgomery said. "They cannot be financially broken."

Montgomery's remarks followed a story in the Sentinel which said the people of Atlanta will foot the cost of any antitrust action against the Braves arising from the National League baseball club's decision to leave Milwaukee.

Earlier this week, Milwaukee County Supervisor Thomas J. Duffy urged the County Board to start a damage suit against the Braves under federal antitrust law. The request has been referred to a committee which has taken no action.

Montgomery said he was incorrectly quoted in the Sentinel story which followed a long distance telephone interview.

"The people of Atlanta will 'pay the tab' only in the sense that the Braves' stadium rental could be reduced in the event of antitrust action," Montgomery said.

Montgomery confirmed that a supplemental agreement had been worked out between the city and the Braves. It was drawn up after National League owners agreed to let the Braves move to Atlanta for the 1966 season, but ruled that they must remain in Milwaukee in 1965.

Montgomery said he did not make a statement quoted in the Sentinel as: "If we (Atlanta Stadium Authority) don't make a nickel, we are pledged to pay these (possible antitrust) costs."

"What I did tell their reporter was that "even if we don't make a nickel, we are pledged to pay off the stadium bonds'," he said. "And that we will."

Floyd To Nix WBA Title Bid

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson's dream is to beat Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston, and in the process become the first man to win the heavyweight championship three times. He won't settle just for the WBA's recognition as champion.

Patterson wasn't available today for comment to the World Boxing Association's renewed proposal that he meet the winner of the Ernie Terrell-Eddie Machen bout March 5 in Chicagl. This is for the WBA's version of the heavyweight championship.

But it was learned from sources close to the former two-time heavyweight king that the bid will be spurned. Patterson prefers to await the winner of the Clay-Liston return in Boston this May or June. He may take on Argentina's Gregorio Peralta, the South American heavyweight champion, in the meantime.

Tony Maceroni, chairman of the WBA's championshipip committee, wired Patterson the proposition that he meet the Terrell-Machen winner within 90 days of the outcome of that fight-off.

The WBA stripped Clay of title recognition when he signed for the return bout with Liston. The WBA is opposed to return title bouts and had warned Clay that he faced loss of his crown. Clay, however, still is recognized as champion in most parts of the world.

Patterson is vacationing out of New York and won't be available ofr direct comment on the WBA's proposition for several days, according to a spokesman.

After he defeated Canadian champion George Chuvalo in their thrilling 12-round slugfest at Madison Square Garden Monday night, Patterson emphasized again his ambition to beat Clay and Liston and regain the title. He said then he was not interested in the Terrell-Machen winner which had been offered previosly to the victor of Monday's fight.

Patterson said, too, he wanted to keep busy while waiting for Clay and Liston to fight. The Clay-Liston victor probably won't fight again until September at the earliest.

Peralta, a handsome, 29-year-old Argentine, and Chuvalo have been suggested as Patterson' s next opponent by the Garden. Peralta appears to have the inside track.

Although he is ranked as the No. 4 light heavyweight contender, Peralta says his best fighting weight is about 183 pounds. He suffered his first defeat in four years last April 10 when he was stopped on cuts by light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano in the sixth round of a title fight.

The dark-haired South American would be no set up for Patterson. Peralta is a solid hitter who, like Chuvalo, features left hooks to the body and head. He is dead game but vulnerable to cuts over the eyes.

Unknowns Snare The Early Lead

By JAMES C. ANDERSON

PALM SPRINGS (AP)—A pair of unknowns named Stan Thirsk and Kermit Zarley led the pack today in the chase for $100,000 in prizes in the Bob Hope Desert Classic but some dangerous golfing wolves were hot on their trail.

So far this year, Thirsk, a 36-year-old club professional from Kansas City, Kan., has won exactly $0.00 on the tour. Zarley, a Yakima, Wash., tourist, made only $1,665.01 in four starts this year.

But not even such golfing greats as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper, or Tony Lema could argue with their scores after 36 holes of the 90-hole marathon.

The pair — whose names sound like a vaudeville team — stood at 10-under par 134. Lema, rebounding after a three-stroke penalty on opening day, was five strokes back with 72--67—139. Palmer and Casper were six behind with identical rounds of 70-70—140 and Nicklaus, golf's leading money winner last year, was eight back with 71-71—142.

Zarley had a 68 opening day at Bermuda Dunes and stormed in with a six-under-par 66 at La Quinta yesterday. Thirsk showed identical 67s at Indian Wells and the Dunes courses.

At 135 were Rod Funseth of Spokane, Wash., who highlighted a round of 67 at Bermuda with an eagle and the always dangerous Don January of Dallas who turned in a fine 67 at the Dunes to go with his opening 68.

First round leader Frank Beard of Louisville, Ky., matched his opening 66 with a 71 yesterday at La Quinta to head the 137 bracket. In with the same totals were Jerry Steelsmith of Glendale, Cal., with 67-70 and Randy Glover of Florence, S. C., 72-65.

Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez, back on his game after being fitted for glasses; big Mike Souchak and Tommy Aaron each were six under par at 138.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN

Buy Your Kid A Football, Dad; It Can Become A Golden Egg

Concerned about your son's future? His education? Don't just stand there; go out and buy him a football.

Possessors of pigskin talent are getting fat these days, dad. Joe Namath recently signed his name on a pro pigskin contract for $400,000—which scribbles out of $44,444.44 a letter. Jerry Rhome, Craig Morton, Dick Butkis and a long list of other Joe Collegiates are a few of the many benefactors of the fast football buck these days.

So, the subject today is how to huddle up a little closer with your banker, or inflating your account with a football pump.

The Mortons and Namaths etc., turned pro on their collegiate reputations and their high school grid reps helped them get through college.

Which brings us to a lower plateau and how to get your kid to college, which reverts to our original suggestion that you buy him a football and teach him to use it.

SCHOLARSHIPS PROVIDE an easy ticket to higher education. Drake High School won the championship last year and some of the Pirates' better players received more offers than a chorus girl at an Elks convention.

Lee Jamison, a big tackle with a high I.Q., is a good example. Lee was offered more grants than you can shake a sheepskin at. He finally accepted a scholarship from University of Colorado which includes, according to Linda Siem of the Drake News Bureau, room and board. tuition, books and $15 a month for incidentals. At least eight other major schools whispered sweet scholarships into Jamison's ears, including Oregon, Oregon State, Utah State, Cal, U.C. at Santa Barbara, Stanford, the U.S. Naval Academy and the Air Force Academy.

DRAKE END Larry Stein was another hot item on the scholarship mart. Larry is leaning toward Stanford over other offers from Cal, Oregon, Oregon St., Navy, Dartmouth, Arizona St., U.C. at Santa Barbara, Cal Poly, Amherst, Washington St. and good old Harvey Mudd.

Also, some college coaches have expressed interest in talking to Pirate fullback Joe De Masi and halfback Dean Lazzarini, although the latter is only a junior. He's received "feeler" letters from Wash. St., Navy, Pacific, Stanford, Washington, Arizona St., USC.

Another Drake junior, Doug Manuel, has drawn the interest of scouts for Colorado and Stanford.

So you see, that football you buy your kid can become a golden egg. College . . . then the pros. And at $44,444.44 per, it pays to be a man of letters.

ERRANT RIB CAUSE OF GARIBALDI'S PROBLEMS

SANTA CLARA (AP) — The San Francisco Giants and their $150,000 bonus baby, Bob Garibaldi, are believed to know there's really something physically wrong with the 22-year-old right-hander.

The 6-feet-5, 205-pounder had doubts he'd ever pitch again after leaving the Pacific Coast League farm club at Tacoma early last season with a mysterious arm ailment picked up in spring training.

The mystery was solved recently when a doctor discovered that the first rib on Garibaldi's right side slipped out of place every time he threw a curve ball. Isometric exercises were prescribed to correct the condition.

Because Garibaldi represents the highest bonus ever paid by the Giants, they hustled him to New York last year to have a doctor take a look. The trouble was believed muscular after the doctor couldn't find anything physically amiss. Rest was prescribed.

But while throwing a curve during a recent workout with the Santa Clara University baseball team, Garibaldi felt a twinge in his back. The hurler, who wasn t supposed to be throwing at all, went to famed trainer Henry Schmidt who sent him on to Dr. John Watson in nearby San Jose. A fluoroscope turned up the bad rib.

"You don't know what a relief it was to find there was something structurally wrong," said Garibaldi, who got his bonus in 1962.

"It was getting to be a mental thing with me," he added. "X rays showed nothing wrong, but I couldn't throw."

Floyd Bout Set For TV

NEW YORK (AP) — The Floyd Patterson-George Chuvalo heavyweight fight, which was not shown on home television when it was held last Monday night, will appear on home screens Sunday, Feb. 14, the Columbia Broadcasting System said yesterday.

CBS announced it had purchased the television rights from Lester Malitz, who handled the theater television showing of the fight. The films of the entire 12-round bout, in which Patterson won a unanimous decision, will be shown from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., PST.

With the New York metropolitan area blacked out and with no radio broadcast, the fight drew a capacity crowd of 19,100 at Madison Square Garden.

Wilcox In Golf Lead

PALM SPRINGS (AP)—Terry Wilcox of Bronxville, N.Y., who broke par two days in a row, led the way today into the final round of the 54-hole, $10,000 Hope of Tomorrow golf tournament with a 36-hole total of 132.

Wilcox shot a 63 and a 69 in the first two rounds over the par-70 Palm Desert Country Club Course.

The tournament is a sort of consolation event for players who could not qualify for the Bob Hope Desert Classic, currently under way on four other courses at this desert resort area.

Bob Adamson, with a 65, and Al Mengert, 66, were tied at 133. Six other golfers were bunched at 134. They were Bob Brue, Manuel de la Torre, Duff Lawrence, Larry Mancour, Jim Wright and Lou Graham.

Series Tops TV Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — The seventh game of the World Series, played on a Thursday afternoon, was the surprising leader among 1964 network television sports shows according to annual ratings prepared by the A. C. Nielsen Company.

The ratings showed the Sunday World Series game, No. 4, was in second place and the Rose Bowl football game was third. The Saturday Series game and the sixth game, played on a Wednesday, were the others in the top five based on total homes reached.

However, it was pointed out that no ratings were taken for the National Football League championship game at Cleveland between the Cleveland Browns and Baltimore Colts because it was played in a week when no ratings were taken by Nielsen of any shows.

LOTZ BOYS MAKE BIG SPLASH

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—The Lotz brothers are having their ups and downs on the professional golf tour — but today they both are very much "up."

Both Dick, 22, and John, 23, piled up an impressive list of amateur titles in Northern California and turned professional within the last 13 months. Both are playing in the tournaments going on this week in the Palm Springs area—John in the $100,000 Bob Hope Classic and Dick in the "also ran" open, a $10,000 tournament the codemian is staging for pros who did not qualify for the big one.

John's opening round at Eldorado Country Club was a poor 83. He fired four balls out of bounds, each errant shot costing him a two stroke penalty.

But yesterday he teed up at Indian Wells, determined to stage a comeback.

The result? A record-tying 63, 20 shots better than his opening round.

His card showed nine birdies and nine pars and it was an example of golf perfection.

He had to sink only one long putt—25 feet—for a birdie. Six others fell into the hole on putts of less than six feet and twice he was on the green on five par holes in two strokes and two putted for birdies.

Younger brother Dick couldn't quite match John's performance in the second round of the "Hope of Tomorrow" tournament at Palm Desert. But he shot the low round of the day yesterday-a seven under par 65 to go with his opening round of 72.

His round brought him from far back in the pack to within five shots of the leaders and a chance to take home a check at the end of the 54-hole tourney.

Dick Lotz, former state amateur champion, was recorded as turning in no card on the opening round. That was because the PGA lost 42 scorecards in the confusion which has always marked the Desert Classic. But the missing cards turned up and Dick still is in there swinging.

Tars Point '100' Gun At Napa J.C.

College of Marin will be playing without its top scorer tonight for the first time this year, but don't look for the Tars to fall apart.

Marin will travel to Napa to take on the Chiefs at 8 o'clock and missing from the lineup will be Brad Busch, the guard who ended his junior college cage career as the Golden Valley's Conference's No. 2 scorer of the season with a 23.4 average. His eligibility is all used up.

But taking his place in the starting lineup is Barry Hachmyer, a 5-11 freshman who was second team All-Marin Athletic League last season for Novato High School. Barry's a fine outside shooter, but his biggest asset is his defensive play.

His addition to the starting lineup puts two Novato boys there. Redwood High also has two and Terra Linda the other one on this fine all-Marin team that has romped through the season so far with a spectacular 18-2 record. The Tars also sport a 16-game winning streak, longest in the state among the junior colleges.

The other Novato boy on the starting five is forward Fred Arnold who stands 6-7. From Redwood are center Jim Halm, also 6-7, and guard Jay Johnson, 6-1. Terra Linda's representative is forward Bill Brody, 6-2.

BARRY HACHMYER
A new starter

Marin, through its five GVC games, has averaged exactly 100 points per game, scoring a total of 500. The conference leaders have allowed an average of 74.4 points per game.

Besides Busch, three other Marin boys are included in the top scoring list for the conference. Johnson is third with 98 points and a 19.8 average; Halm is eighth with 66 points and a 13.2 average, and Arnold is ninth with 65 points and an average of 13.0.

For tonight's game, Napa will throw the conference's tallest front line at Marin, the Chiefs averaging 6-6 up front. Leading their scoring is Dennis Smith with a 12.3 average. Napa is tied for fourth place in the conference with a 1-3 mark.

Tars coach Cal Riemcke was beaming over the fact that all of his boys made it through final examinations without failing. He usually loses one or two a year because of grades at mid-season, but this year's team is not only talented on the court, it's got some smarts.

SEALS SEEK MIRACLE IN TITLE BID

VANCOUVER, B.C., (UPI)—The San Francisco Seals' dying hopes of landing in the Western Hockey League playoffs could miraculously revive tonight if they could dump third-place Vancouver.

The last-place Seals enter the contest one point back of fifth-place Los Angeles and, more important, six points behind fourth-place Victoria. The top four teams wind up in the post-season playoffs.

The Seals lost to Vancouver last Sunday, 5-2, in a defeat which coach Bud Poile concedes was a crucial one.

The Seals came into the contest with a two-game win streak and seemed to be on the way to their usual last season spurt. But Vancouver's Gilles Villemure stopped a variety of Seals' shots in what Poile later called "the best goaltending I've seen all year."

"If Villemure continues to play like that, Vancouver could quite easily take it all," Poile continued. "We outshot them 14-3 in the second period, and yet they scored two goals to our one. Ridiculous."

Poile was reminded by some fans with disturbingly long memories that he had picked the Seals and Portland to fight it out for the title. Poile quipped "well, I'm half right. Portland is still the team to beat."

About second place Seattle, Poile said "as long as they have (Guyle) Fielder and those big crowds egging them on, they'll be tough."

He pointedly did not praise Los Angeles or Victoria, apparently in hopes that the Seals could slide by these two clubs into the fourth playoff spot.

Regarding his club, Poile expressed confidence that with a few breaks the defending champion Seals could still make the playoffs. "Our guys are money guys, and we're still the champs, so anything can happen."

He cited captain Eddie Panagabko as the kind of pro who could start to connect in the last part of the season. He pointed out that Eddie got four points last Friday against Los Angeles.

"Of course, (goalie Bob) Perreault is the key," Poile said. "If he comes up big like he did last season, we've got a great chance."

The contest tonight opens a seven-game road trip for the Seals. They return home Feb. 19 against Los Angeles.

MARIN PREP QUINTETS START STRETCH DRIVE

Six of the seven schools in the Marin Athletic Leage start the second half of league play tonight, with the first place team the one that gets the bye.

San Rafael is at Novato, Tamalpais is at Terra Linda, and Marin Catholic is at Drake. Class B games at 7 o'clock start the night's activities, with varsity contests following at about 8:15.

Redwood, in first place with a 5-1 mark, kept in shape with a non-league game against Petaluma. That game, in the Redwood gym in Larkspur, was to start at 4 p.m.

In their first meeting this season, Novato nipped San Rafael 47-45, with Tom Corder hitting 19 points and John Dolinsek registering 15 to pace the Hornet attack. For San Rafael, Ken Erdman scored only four points, but since then has sparked up to a 15.5 average in league play. With his improved scoring antics, San Rafael may get revenge for that early season loss.

Tam won its first game with Terra Linda, 42-34. Terra Linda is led by Keith Shields (12.7) average) and Don Kotts (12.0). But for Tam it has been one man, Larry Gray, a 5-11 guard who is in front in the league scoring parade with a 19-point average.

Marin Catholic will be hoping to get out of the cellar at the expense of the Drake Pirates. Marin, with a disappointing 1-5 first half mark, is led by Bill Shine and Tom Soden. Shine has averaged 16.3 per game and Soden, right on Shine's heels, has scored 16.2 per game. Leading scorer for Drake on the league slate has been Rick Henika who has hit for a 13-point slip. Drake barely won the first meeting of the two schools, 48-47.

EL TORO, A VERY POPULAR BOAT

El Toros, like the one pictured above, are growing in popularity on Marin waters. These boats are among the many on display at the National Sports and Boat Show which opened a 10-day run today at the Cow Palace in San Francisco. A little boat, only 7 feet, 10½ inches in length and 85 pounds, the El Toro makes a nearly perfect family sailing and utility boat. It can be tossed on top of the car for a quick trip to the bay or it can be taken along as a rowing or outboard motor tender for a cruising boat.

Dream Teams For NBA's Benefit Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some of the top stars of the National Basketball Association are going to be reshuffled—but for one night only.

Even though it's temporary, the result will be a couple of dream teams.

How about Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers playing on the same team with Boston's Bill Russell?

And their opposition will come, in part, from this potent threesome: Jerry West of the Lakers, Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain.

The occasion is a benefit match for Maurice Stokes on May 27 in the Los Angeles Sports Arena. The former NBA standout contracted encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, seven years ago. Although he is up and about occasionally, his speech is impaired.

The game will match all-star teams selected according to the geographic location of the players' individual alma maters. Hence there will be a mixing of the NBA's east-west divisions.

Dons, Bruins Resume Conference Battles

By United Press International

UCLA and University of San Francisco, who suffered recent defeats on the road, are back home tonight and should be tough to take in conference battles.

The nationally second-ranked Bruins host improving Washington State at the Los Angeles Sports Arena. UCLA is 4-0 in conference play and already has a two-game lead on the rest of the Pacific Eight.

University of San Francisco, ninth ranked nationally, is 3-0 in the West Coast Athletic Conference and battles University of Pacific, which is also 3-0.

Other Pacific Eight tussles pit Washington and Sosthern California in the other half of a Los Angeles twin bill, and send Stanford against Oregon and California against Oregon State.

Saturday night it's Washington State-Southern California and Washington-UCLA at Los Angeles; Stanford at Oregon State and California at Oregon.

In other West Coast Athletic conference activity tonight, St. Mary's and Santa Clara match 2-1 records, Santa Barbara is at Pepperdine, and San Jose State at Loyola.

Saturday night, USF faces St. Mary's at Richmond Auditorium, San Jose State is at Pepperdine, Santa Barbara at Loyola, and Pacific at Santa Barbara.

Warriors Obtain Nash From Lakers

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) —With a new name on the roster the San Francisco Warriors moved into Maryland to meet the Baltimore Bullets tonight.

The last-place club in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association picked up former Kentucky All America Cotton Nash yesterday from the Los Angeles Lakers for the $1,000 waiver price.

Nash, the 6-feet-6 all-time scoring king at Kentucky, was the No. 2 draft choice of the Lakers this season. It won't be until this weekend or early next week until Nash joins the Warriors, losers of their last four and 21 of the last 22 games.

"The Warriors need scorers, now that Wilt Chamberlain has gone to Philadelphia," said San Francisco owner Franklin Mieuli about the deal. "Nash has a high, arching shot difficult to knock down."

Nash didn't see much action for the Lakers because he played behind Elgin Baylor and Rudy LaRusso. He could take over for Wayne Hightower, sold earlier this week by the Warriors to the Bullets.

76ers Win Again As Wilt Plays Key Role

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Recognize that defensive ace in Thursday night's Philadelphia 76ers-St. Louis Hawks game?

The one who opened up all the shots for the 76ers' Hal Greer, who scored 25 points in their 124-119 victory over the Hawks? The one who picked off a backcourt pass by Len Wilkens in the last period and galloped three-quarters of the court for a stuff shot?

It was Wilt Chamberlain, leading the 76ers to their fifth straight victory. Wilt topped all scorers in the only National Basketball Association game of the night with 35 tallies, hitting on 14 for 30 from the field and seven for 11 on the free throw line.

But it was obvious that Chamberlain was of more help in opening up shots for Greer, who has scored 22 or more points in 12 straight games — 10 of them since the 76ers acquired Chamberlain from San Francisco.

It was a come-from-behind victory for Philadelphia, which never led until two free throws by rookie Lucious Jackson gave the 76ers a 117-115 edge with 3:42 to go. It was then that Chamberlain picked off that backcourt pass and added a big basket.

Zelmo Beaty kept the 76ers worried in the first half, scoring 21 off Chamberlain and finishing with 33 points. Teammate Bob Pettit had 27, while Jackson scored 22.

A.L. To Get Early Start

BOSTON (UPI) — The American League will open its 1965 baseball schedule one day earlier than usual although Washington will get underway a day later than usual, it was announced by league headquarters today.

Generally, Washington launches its season at home one day prior to the other clubs but this year eight of the 10 AL entries, including the Senators, will begin on Monday, April 12.

Five-Day Sail Ends For Two Sausalitans

Two Sausalito boatmen put into home port yesterday just before noon, red-faced, cold and tired but proud of their achievement.

Jerry Thompson, 31, scuba diver, and Tom Stovell, 29, chef, described their five-day trip from San Pedro in a 16-foot flat-bottomed boat as "beautiful." It was believed to be the first time the voyage had been made in that small of an outboard boat.

The sailors celebrated with friends and a flurry of cameramen and reporters at the Trident.

"The only rough day was today," said Thompson, "when small craft storm warnings were up." The men saled by compass the whole trip due to fog, stopping each night on shore. Brookner Brady, 25, of Sausalito, drove along shore, keeping radio contact and setting up fuel arrangements.

"Would you do it again?" Thompson was asked. "No," he replied. "Why not?" "Because I have been there." "What is your next trip?" "To bed," he said.

Wives Concede Men Can Outcook Them

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The wives of some male cooking experts concede their men can outcook them. But about cleaning up later? Well!

"Who does the dish-washing? Let's not talk about it," said Mrs. Julius Lipton, 36, wife of an Internal Revenue agent of West Orange, N.J.

"My husband considers cleaning up mundane," said Mrs. Gail S. Erbeck, 29, wife of a dentist, of Mason, Ohio. The creative cook she married can't be bothered with such trivia, she indicated.

"WHO CLEANS up after? I do, unless some of the children are around and I can pass the job along to them," said Mrs. Francis W. Moynihan, 35, wife of a physician of Oakland, Calif. The Moynihans have 10 children ranging in age from 16 years to three months.

One wife of an amateur chef had married every woman's dream for the kitchen, however.

"My husband can cook a seven course dinner with one spoon," said Mrs. J. A. Allard, 35, wife of an Air Force training specialist, of San Antonio, Tex.

"All right," her husband said with a smile. "So I'm a nit picker. I get ulcers if things aren't kept clean."

ALLARD this week copped the Men's National Cooking Championship in New York, winning over three other regional finalists in the fifth annual event.

Interviewed during the contest, while their husbands cooked and they figuratively chewed nails waiting results, the wives in general agreed that if a man got interested in cooking he usually turned into a better culinary artist than the woman.

"To show you what I mean," said Mrs. Moynihan, "I've entered a lot of cooking contests and got nowhere. He's here."

Most said their husbands do not cook by the book. Oh, hubby may start with a basic cook book recipe, said Mrs. Erbeck, "but by the time he's through, everything's changed. He's a great believer in herbs and spices. It seems to me the man has more imagination."

"I THINK," said Mrs. Lipton, "that men are more precise cooks, aiming for a definite taste, a result. Women cook to feed their families and get it over with."

"Women are more sticklers for detail," said Mrs. Allard. "Men aren't confined in their thinking."

Said her husband, "Sure, I'm a better cook than my wife. But day to day, I guess you can't beat the gals."

DO THE men listen to cooking advice from their wives?

"He just ignores me," said Mrs. Erbeck. "But I taught him some of the basics, like how to make a white sauce."

Mrs. Moynihan said when her husband learned he would be one of the finalists in the New York cook-off he remarked, "Well, I guess it'll be three weeks of hell, you telling me again. . ."

Mrs. Lipton says her husband will permit her in the kitchen when he's preparing a favorite dish. "We tolerate each other," she said, "like friendly adversaries."

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Feb. 5, the 36th day of 1965 with 329 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

American evangelist Dwight Moody was born on this day in 1838.

On this day in history:

In 1631, British clergyman Roger Williams, founder of the colony of Rhode Island, arrived at Salem, Mass.

In 1904, Russia and Japan broke diplomatic relations as the result of rival designs on Manchuria and Korea.

In 1937, a bitter controversy began as President Franklin D. Roosevelt sent a series of proposals to Congress to reorganize the federal judiciary.

In 1945, the Third U. S. Army broke through Germany's Siegfried Line.

A thought for the day—Bishop Fulton J. Sheen said: "Baloney is flattery so thick it cannot be true, and blarney is flattery so thin we like it."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Even Lowly Deuce Might Have Its Use At Bridge

If you talk about the good cards a player holds he will knock wood and scowl at you for jeopardizing his luck with your loose talk.

If the same player has a run of bad cards he will talk about them himself and may even show you the deuces he picks up —never realizing how important deuces may be.

Opening lead — ◇ Q

West opened the queen of diamonds, East signalled with the nine and South took the ace. Declarer promptly led his club to dummy and cashed two more high clubs to get rid of the losing diamonds.

DANGER OVER

The immediate danger was over, but South still had to worry about losing two hearts and two trumps. Since East was a chronic complainer about deuces, South decided to lead the deuce of clubs from dummy and discard the deuce of hearts from his own hand.

Why the deuce of clubs instead of the jack? An opponent is less likely to ruff a deuce than a jack. So it turned out in this case.

East didn't see the need to ruff a lowly deuce, so he discarded the deuce of diamonds, thus completing the signal he had begun at the first trick.

OBLIGED TO RUFF

West was obliged to ruff the trick but this left him with only three trumps so that he could later get only one other trump trick.

West got his two trump tricks and East got the ace of hearts, but South made his contract.

East played the wrong deuce on the fourth round of clubs. He could defeat the contract by ruffing the deuce of clubs with the "worthless" deuce of spades.

HEART DISCARDED

If South then discarded a heart, West would still get his two trump tricks and East would get the ace of hearts.

If South over-ruffed instead of discarding a heart, West would get two trump trick and then the defenders would get two hearts. Either way South would go down.

As Benjamin Franklin used to say to his bridge partners, "Take care of your deuces, and your aces will take care of themselves."

DAILY QUESTION

With both sides vulnerable, the dealer bids 1 NT, and you are next, holding:

♠ A Q J 9 8 7
♥ Q 5 2
♦ A 6 3

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades.

You may make 7 tricks with your own hand, and with just the barest kind of help from your partner you may make a part score or even a game. Your bid would be a poor risk if you had balanced distribution, but a singleton is an asset when you are bidding against an opponent's opening notrump bid.

Said notice contained the specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed. Thereafter, the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County after public hearing did approve said proposed annexation.

3. The boundaries of the territory sought to be annexed by these proceedings are more particularly described in Exhibit A attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference.

4. Said annexation shall be designated the "High School-Tide Lands Annexation".

5. The legislative body of the City of Mill Valley has initiated the proceedings for the annexation of said territory on its own motion without requiring a petition. Said proceedings will be conducted pursuant to the provisions of the Annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939.

6. The reasons why the City of Mill Valley desires said annexation are as follows:

(a) Said territory because of its location and other features should be governed in its development by the same zoning and planning regulations which govern territory within the City of Mill Valley.

(b) Because of its location, said territory will receive the benefit of and should therefore participate in supporting the municipal services of said city.

7. Notice is hereby given that on the 1st day of March, 1965 at 8:00 o'clock P.M. of said day or as soon thereafter as said matter may be heard in the Council Chambers in the City Hall, Mill Valley, California, the City Council of the City of Mill Valley will meet to hear written protests against the proposed annexation made by any person owning real property within the territory.

8. The City Clerk is hereby directed to cause a copy of this resolution to be published in the manner prescribed by Section 35311 of the Government Code of the State of California and said Clerk is further directed to give such other notice of the proposed annexation as may be required by law.

Many Lawmakers Practice Law On The Side In D.C.

By ERWIN KNOLL
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — More than half of the members of the 89th Congress serve simultaneously as lawmakers for the nation and as lawyers for private clients.

Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa), a caustic critic of his colleagues on Capitol Hill, calls this "congressional moonlighting" and says it illustrates the adage that "them that has gits—them as has not gits not."

Gross holds that congressional salaries — recently raised to $30,000 a year—are high enough to require fulltime devotion to legislative duties.

But most congressional lawyers see no conflict of interest or other impropriety in their practices, which often produce more income than their government paychecks.

"There is absolutely nothing illegal about it," says Rep. Abraham J. Multer (D-N.Y.), who maintains an active law practice.

The custom of congressional law practices has been followed—and occasionally questioned—since the early days of the Republic. Some lawyer-congressmen are careful to avoid cases involving possible governmental conflicts. Others are less selective in choosing their clients.

Sen. Daniel Webster, the New England orator who played a key role in 19th Century banking legislation, did not hesitate to remind a banker-client that "my retainer has not been renewed or refreshed as usual. If it be wished that my relation be continued, it may be well to send me the usual retainer."

Congressman Multer, a contemparary lawyer for banking interests, has dismissed as "utterly absurd" the suggestion that there may be a conflict between his efforts in behalf of clients and his senior role on the Housing Banking and Currency Committee.

"Because of my background as a congressman, I can tell anyone how to operate a bank just about anywhere in the world," Multer notes in explaining why his services as a lawyer are in high demand.

Immigration law is another fertile field for congressional law practices. Because of restrictive national origins quotas, thousands of immigrants seek legal help each year to obtain the right of permanent residence in the United States. In many cases, only a "private bill" sponsored by a member of Congress can solve the problem.

Transportation firms, too, seem to find it useful to get legal advice from members of Congress. Former Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio), who had a major voice in railroad legislation when he served as chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, numbered important rail carriers among his law firm's clients.

Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.), another member of the commerce committee, was a partner in a Miami law firm, which retains its airline legislation.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), a member of Congress for more than 40 years and chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, believes that "there could be conflicts of interest" in congressional law practices.

"But I don't indulge in them," adds Celler, a senior partner in the New York firm of Weisman, Celler, Allan, Spett and Sheinberg, which refuses to handle cases involving government agencies.

The firm shares offices and staff with one that specializes in government cases—Weisman, Allan, Spett and Sheinberg. There are two doors to the offices—one with and one without Celler's name.

In a news conference a few days ago, Celler stressed that he draws income only from the emoluments in the treasury of the firm of which I am a member" — the one that handles no government matters.

Celler declined to disclose the extent of his law practice income, but he said it "helps" to maintain him in comfortable circumstances.

His law firm was in the news because it received a $10,000 retainer from the Sweet Water Development Co. of Dallas, Tex., which subsequently received government contracts for desalinization projects. The Celler firm in turn paid a $2,500 "forwarding fee" to the law firm of former Senate Majority Secretary Robert G. (Bobby) Baker.

The $10,000 fee paid for services which had nothing to do with government contracts, Celler insisted, and the payment to Baker's firm was "the usual practice and custom prevailing among lawyers."

"All was open and above board," Celler said. He added that he could not explain why the Texas company, an affiliate of the Murchison Oil interests, had been referred to Celler's firm because "I can't answer what was in the mind of Baker."

But one of Celler's partners, Murray S. Spett, made it clear that a referral to a congressman's law firm would not be an unusual practice. Spett said he often asked Celler to recommend fellow congressmen who might handle legal matters in various states.

Congressional law practice is a bipartisan institution. In the 89th Congress, 167 house Democrats and 71 Republicans, 49 Democratic senators and 18 Republicans, are lawyers. Most remain active in their practices.

One who is not is Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), who withdrew from his Eugene, Ore., law firm when he was elected to the Senate. When asked this week for comment on the propriety of congressional law practices, Morse noted this action and said it speaks for itself.

Another lawyer no longer in private practice is Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.), who commented:

"I have found the job of a senator more than a fulltime one. In addition, it seems to me increasingly difficult to find substantial areas of legal practice which are not touched, directly or indirectly, by government. Even such a field as estate law, which at first glance might seem remote from the federal government, is affected by federal taxes and the possibility of legislation in the field.

"In short, for myself, I've concluded that here is really no way to hold federal office and practice law and also avoid all possibility of conflicts of interest."

Morse, Case, and several other members of the Senate and House have sponsored—so far without notable success—proposals to curb possible conflicts of interest among legislators. Their plans would not bar congressional law practices, but would require disclosure of major clients and other sources of outside income. Prospects for enactment are dubious.

"It appears, Mr. Speaker," said Congressman Gross on the House floor last week, "that congressional moonlighting will go on no matter what the salaries of some members and the costs of the taxpayers."

Jets Need Brake Power

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — It's well known that it takes a lot of power to get one of today's jetliners into the air and push it along at 500 miles per hour. Often overlooked is the fact that it also takes a lot to stop a jetliner.

The amount of energy absorbed by the brakes on a large jetliner during a normal landing is enough to stop more than 400 automobiles traveling at 50 miles per hour, according to studies made by Goodyear's Aviation Products Division.

Squirrels Chilled For College Study

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — A University of California scientist is using six refrigerators filled with live squirrels to make a study of hibernation.

Dr. Eric T. Pengelley said the study may help determine the effects on humans if their body temperatures are artificially reduced.

Drunken Driving

SACRAMENTO, alif. (UPI) —A poll of nearly 10,000 persons applying for driver's licenses shows that 68 per cent feel drunk driving penalties are too lenient, according to the state Department of Public Works.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

If Glaucoma Signs Neglected Person Certain To Go Blind

VAN DELLEN

Glaucoma is a common ocular disease in which tension within the eyeball is elevated. The delicate retina and optic nerve are injured by excess pressure and blindness ensues unless the condition is recognized and treated properly. Diagnosis is not difficult in certain types of glaucoma where tension rises quickly. The disorder is extremely painful and is associated with rapid loss of vision, headache, nausea, and vomiting. This is an emergency.

The chronic form is more common; it comes on so gradually, the eye may be damaged before the individual is aware that something is amiss. Several danger signs develop, which often are neglected by the victim. There may be transitory blurring of vision over a long period of time. New glasses do not seem to help. Meanwhile, rainbow rings are seen around lights. These people have trouble adapting to the dark, as when walking into a movie theater.

ANYONE WITH these symptoms should consult an ophthalmologist, because the next step is loss of vision. Various organizations are sponsoring mass screening tests for glaucoma to encourage people to have eye tension measured. Early diagnosis and treatment will prevent blindness.

It has been estimated that 2 per cent of the population over age 40 is affected and half do not know it. The percentage goes up with each year of life, varying from 1 per cent at age 40 to 8.7 per cent at 70.

THE TEST IS painless because a few drops of an anesthetic solution is put on the surface of the eye. The measurements are made with a delicate instrument (tonometer) which consists of a footplate that rests on the eye ball. This is attached to a needle that moves when slight pressure is applied. Readings above 27 mm. are considered evidence of glaucoma. There is no way to prevent the condition. Tension increases when driving at night, working in a poor light, and during emotional upheavals. These factors should be avoided should the disease develop.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on glaucoma if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

ADDICTIVE PERSONALITY

T. H. write: My hubsand, in his late 50s, has been a bromo addict for years. Lately he has become so cross and unreasonable I think he is losing his sanity. Would this be due to his age or to the drug?

REPLY

Bromo—or, better, the personality defect that makes him an addict. A high concentration of bromides in the blood makes some persons mean, nervous, and overactive.

FREEZING A CATARACT

W. K. writes: Can a cataract be dissolved by freezing?

REPLY

No, but a unique freezing instrument is used to extract the lens through an opening in the eyeball. It is applied to the lens, fusing it in much the same way a finger will stick to an ice cube tray in the refrigerator. The instrument is withdrawn and the lens slips out with it.

PROTRUDING ABDOMEN

Mrs. W. writes: My husband loves spaghetti. He has a very large abdomen. Will walking every day reduce it?

REPLY

Any exercise will help, provided he does not end up in an Italian restaurant.

OVARY AND FERTILITY

Mrs. R. writes: Can a woman with one ovary conceive and carry a baby to term?

REPLY

Yes, provided the remaining ovary produces ova.

City Employees Relations Held Ignored In State

California cities have long ignored employee relations.

That was the conclusion of San Rafael Mayor John. F. McInnis, who attended a three-day conference in Los Angeles on labor relations for cities and other public hiring agencies.

The conference was sponsored by the League of California Cities in response to interest aroused by municipal strikes in New York and Canada.

"The conclusion was that we in California have ignored entirely an area that deserves much concern and thought," McInnis said.

Many attending the conference thought that cities offer better fringe benefits and security than private industry. This was found untrue, McInnis said.

San Rafael is in a better position than many other cities in the state as far as fringe benefits, the mayor reported, but the thinks procedures for negotiating with employees and means of keeping more current information on the competitive markets for employees need to be developed in San Rafael.

The league assigned committees to study legal procedures for employee negotiations and asked for a resume of fringe benefits throughout the state.

Speakers at the conference included Peter Thompson, personnel manager of Calgary, Alberta, which recently had a strike of city employees. He spoke on municipal collective bargaining.

Policeman Took Him For A Ride

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)— An African ricksha puller, who clashed with the law in this seaside city, was handcuffed and taken for a ride to the police station in his own ricksha.

The trouble began when a policeman saw the ricksha traveling the wrong way along a one-way street. The puller argued that, as his was a one-man power and not a motor vehicle, he was entitled to travel in whichever direction he pleased.

The policeman refused to listen to his pleas and issued an on-the-spot fine. The argument got more and more heated until the policeman was forced to restrain the puller with handcuffs. Without further ado the arrested man was told to climb aboard the ricksha—the policeman giving him a free ride to the police station.

Burglar Knows His Profession

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Prosecutor Todd Harrison of Jonesboro wasn't getting anywhere while he was helping question a suspect in connection with a safe burglary.

Finally Harrison asked if the man knew what it meant to burglarize a safe; break into a place of business.

"Yes sir," came the reply.

"Just how do you know?" Harrison asked.

"Because that's what I am," the man replied. "I'm a safe burglar."

Tideland Purchase Plan To Be Debated

Opposing views on whether the City of Tiburon should aid in paying for tidelands off Strawberry will be presented by two Tiburon councilmen at 8 p.m. today at Reed School.

At a public meeting sponsored by the Tiburon Property Owners Assn., Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge, favoring the purchase, and Councilman Fred C. Hannahs, opposing it, will explain the reasons for their stands. The discussion will be moderated by David D. Ring.

Documents Signed

Incorporation papers for the San Marin Homeowners Assn. were signed by officers Wednesday night in the home of association president, Lt. Col. (Ret.) Robert Eisenhauer at 151 San Felipe Way, Novato.

Sheep By Air

ROME (AP) — Two chartered planes air-lifted 300 Rambouillet ewes and 100 rams from Houston, Tex., to Jaipur, India, in a Food and Agriculture Organization project to help improve the breed of Indian sheep. The sheep were paid for by the councils of churches of Elkhart and St. Joseph counties, in Indiana. The Indian government paid the air transport costs.

Turk-Soviet Trade

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — Turkey's exports to the Soviet bloc during the first seven months of 1964 were $23.6 million, compared with $19.3 million in the corresponding period of 1963, an increase of 22.16 per cent.

TELEVISION REVIEW

In The Beginning Was The Word...

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Today I offer you a group of men who should be an inspiration to any English teacher trying to stress the practical mercenary value of learning the language: Television's renaissance men — a group of comedians who are basically writers, and who, according to modern finance, are worth at least 10 to 20 times more each week than, say, high school principals.

This is generally considered the era of the writer in Hollywood, where it has suddenly been discovered that, in the beginning was the word. And it is also widely known, of course, that writers by and large are charming, amusing, debonair, devastating in their appeal to women, and the salt of the earth. But even by these standards, the comedy success on television of performers who used to be — or still are—writers, is impressive, and a victory, however modest, for literacy in the public arena. For example:

Saturday night, the occasional —and brilliant — comedy team of Carl Reiner and Mel Brooks is scheduled to make another appearance on ABC-TV's "Hollywood Palace," and these two gentlemen are ideal examples with which to start. Reiner, of course, performs when he has a mind to. He made a reputation long ago as the sidekick of Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca on the old "Show of Shows." But aside from performing, he is a very good writer in both the television and film media, and also wrote a book, "Enter Laughing," which was later a hit Broadway comedy. At present, of course, he guides the Dick Van Dyke series.

Brooks' comedy genius was recognized long ago by Caesar, who, it is said, once paid him just to hang around. Whatever the association, Caesar undoubtedly benefited from it more eventually than Brooks did. There is probably no more brilliantly quick and incisive mind in popular comedy today than that of Brooks the performer. I have sat with performers far more famous than he who watched him do his act in utter awe at his incomparable ad-lib ability and his slashing off-the-cuff wit, and his control. Yet, though he has created a classic comedy characterization, "the 2,000-year-old man"—which sold many records — and though he performs on video, he considers himself a writer. At present, he is guiding a possible new comedy series called "Get Smart," a reported James Bond spoof with a hero named Max Smart.

The Channel Swim: Last Monday's entire Floyd Patterson-George Chuvalo fight will be shown on "CBS Sports Spectacular" Feb. 14, with Cassius Clay as a commentator.

Legislative Session 'On Move'

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assemblyman Robert Monagan, serving his first year as Republican minority leader, said today the 1965 legislative session has moved "much more rapidly than any other I remember."

Monagan, serving his fifth year in the Assembly, said the lawmakers had stepped quickly into many areas of "concern, where in past years these measures would not be considered for several more weeks."

The principal proposal before the legislature after five weeks of work, Monagan believes, is the tax program offered by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh D - Los Angeles, and Assemblyman Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland.

The governor's tax program, Monagan explained, was expected at this time, "but to have an alternate plan this soon is very unusual. And a Senate proposal should be coming soon."

Welcoming Group Chairman Is Named

MARIN FILM FARE

'How West Won' Is Due

By LES DARD

Here's the current and coming film fare for Marin theaters:

NOVATO AND SEQUCIA THEATERS

"How the West Was Won" opens at both theaters Sunday. And it has no less than 15 big stars to boast about, some—like Debbie Reynolds—with picture length roles, others in brief cameos.

The picture personalizes history. Its story line concerns two families who meet along the Westward trek.

The film is divided into halves, the first dealing with the families moving west via the Erie Canal and Ohio River. The second half shows us the nation torn asunder by the Civil War, then the post-war push to the West Coast.

Big names present are James Stewart, Gregory Peck, Karl Malden, Henry Fonda, Carolyn Jones, Lee J. Cobb, Carroll Baker, George Peppard, and Robert Preston. Spencer Tracy narrates.

FAIRFAX THEATER

A young divorcee who moves into a small Ohio town with her small daughter finds friendship in a Negro co-worker. Their relationship deepens into love and they wed.

Barbara Barie and Bernie Hamilton star.

101 DRIVE-IN

One of Elvis Presley's best efforts, "Roustabout" opens here tonight and runs through Saturday night.

After a fight, guitar-wielding, judo-chopping Elvis leaves the saloon where he was working. Riding on his shiny Honda, the next thing you know, he turns up at a broken-down carnival owned by Barbara Stanwyck and is hired as a roustabout.

As always in Presley films, there are plenty of songs to appeal to the younger generation.

RAFAEL THEATER

Gert Frobe as the villain of the title, Auric Goldfinger, plans to increase his own fortune and bankrupt the United States by destroying the gold at Fort Knox.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Fun will be the fare here starting tonight, with a balmy little comedy called "Sunday in New York."

Jane Fonda, a proper lady from Albany, visits her airplane pilot brother, Cliff Robertson, in Manhattan to try to get over a broken romance with Robert Culp.

Delectable shots of the Big Town offer pleasant background for this naughty-but-nice sort of fluff.

LARK THEATER

A theft and a kidnapping touch off an almost "Mad, Mad" chase in the French spoof, "That Man From Rio," held over.

Jean-Paul Belmondo's fiancee is kidnapped when a priceless South American figurine is stolen from a Paris Museum. He starts in pursuit, running, swimming, climbing and stealing any form of transportation he can.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

James Garner plays a dedicated coward in World War II who is ironically ordered to be a hero, in "The Americanization of Emily," held over.

When a nutty admiral in London becomes convinced that Congress plans to scrap the Navy, he decides it will impress them if a sailor is "the first dead man on Omaha Beach."

Garner, as his aide, gets the job.

The Motor Movies Drive-In remains closed.

Larkspur Chamber Officers Remain

Officers of the Larkspur Chamber of Commerce agreed to serve another year in the same posts at yesterday's meeting of the chamber. Staying on will be Kenneth Anderson, president; Harlan Barry, vice president; Maybelle Culpepper, secretary, and Charles T. Hunter, treasurer.

Warren Jr. Post

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown yesterday appointed Earl Warren Jr., son of the chief justice of the United States, to the State Board of Control.

Forest-based industries account for one of every 20 jobs in the United States labor force.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Octogenarian Douglas Hertz has crowded a lot of living into his 80 years. Manager of two prizefighters who won the world heavyweight championship, introducer of dog-racing to the U.S., breeder of the Cornish game hen, operator of a swank polo club—these are only a few of his exploits. And as I-J reporter Glenn Becker reveals in tomorrow's Marin Magazine, Hertz is far from through. In Novato he is now developing what he envisions as "the finest privately-owned arena on the West Coast."

Two observances of significance to Marin boys and girls and their parents are scheduled for next week. The Marin Magazine marks Children's Dental Health Week with a feature about the puppet show by which the wives of Marin dentists guide youngsters of the county into sound care of their teeth. The I-J supplement also takes recognition of Nursery School Week with an article on the art program for these pre-schoolers — the theory upon which it is based and how it functions in the nursery class.

Summer in Mexico

Novato Girl Is Set For Mexico Visit

Kathleen Heyman, a junior at Novato High School, has been selected to go to Mexico during the summer vacation as an Experiment in International Living exchange student sponsored by the Novato Community Ambassadors.

She was chosen from applicants at Novato High by a committee from the community ambassadors. Her application was approved at national headquarters of the Experiment in International Living at Putney, Vt.

Kathleen is president of the junior class and secretary-treasurer of the Spanish Club at the high school. She has ambitions to be a Spanish teacher. She has also won several sewing awards in the 4-H Club.

She will leave in late June for Houston, Tex., for an intensive training program. The group will then fly to Mexico City where she will be met by her host family. She will live with them for one month.

Kathleen is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Heyman of 1412 Buchanan Street, Novato.

Non-Union Bands May Be Hired

Non-union bands may now be hired to play at Sir Francis Drake High School dances.

Prior to this semester it has been Drake's policy to hire only union bands. In return for this, the union provided one out every six bands free. For the other five bands the school paid the minimum union rate — $128 for three hours.

Drake was the only public high school in the county to follow such a policy, according to Linda Siem of the Drake News Bureau.

The new policy, however, restricts the bands to some extent. All band members must attend some high school or college, and must attest to this in the written contract between their band and Drake. These non-union bands will be paid $10 or $20 an evening per member.

The VIPs, who played at the Jan. 30 "End of the Semester" dance, was the first band to perform under the new policy.

Camera Club Trip

The Drake High School Camera Club will journey by ferry to Angel Island for a field trip on Lincoln's Birthday, according to Jeff Johnson, president.
